Clintonville Youth, Hortonville Woman Among Weekend Victims

A Clintonville youth and a rural Hortonville woman became Wisconsin's 519th and 520th highway fatalities in separate accidents Sunday.

Dead are — John B. Olen, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Olen, 119 N. Main St., Clintonville, who was killed about 10:50 p.m. Sunday when he apparently was thrown from his motorcycle about a mile west of the city. — Mrs. Alfred W. Handschke, 64, route 2, Hortonville, who died Sunday afternoon from injuries received earlier in a two-car accident.

Intensify Quiz Into Slaying Of Educator

COLBERT, Ga. (AP)—FBI and Georgia state agents today pushed an intensive investigation into the mysterious slaying of a Washington Negro educator.

J. J. Casper, assistant director of the FBI, would say only that the investigation is continuing. "I'm in no position to make any comment," he said.

State investigators fanned out Sunday along the route taken through northeast Georgia by Lemuel Penn, 49, director of Washington's vocational high schools, when he was shot at the wheel of his car early Saturday by a night-riding gunman.

Residents along the rural route said Georgia agents went from house to house in their questioning Sunday. Public Safety Director Lowell Conner said there were no arrests and that he had nothing to report.

Killed by Shotgun Blast Penn, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, was killed by a shotgun blast fired from a car which passed his automobile from the rear about 10 miles northeast of Colbert. Two other Negro officers riding with Penn escaped injury. The three men had completed a refresher course at Ft. Benning.

The only investigator talking was Madison County Sheriff Dewey Seagraves, who said he was getting nowhere.

"They are not either," Seagraves said referring to the FBI.

Several residents, spurred by a report that Penn was carrying a large amount of money, theorized that it was a robbery attempt by someone who had followed the men from Ft. Benning.

The sheriff disagreed. He said Penn had only $39 and a government check for $543 in his wallet. Seagraves said the other two officers, Maj. Charles E. Brown and Lt. Col. John D. Howard, both of Washington, could tell him nothing to give him a lead. "It was dark and there was a heavy fog," he said. "You couldn't see much."

22 Dead, 128 Ill After Eating at Memorial Rites

STYLIA, Greece (AP)—More than half the people of Stylia gathered Sunday on the 40th day after the death of a kinsman for the traditional Greek Orthodox memorial service.

The widow, Ionna Apostopoulou, 60, had arranged the service for her husband Gregory. She also prepared the customary mourning dish of boiled wheat germ. Kohva, eaten as an offering to God to erase the sins of the deceased so he may enter heaven.

Within 90 minutes after the service, villagers began complaining of pain. By nightfall, 22 persons were dead and 128 seriously ill. The village chief said the widow had mistakenly sprinkled the wheat germ with insect poison instead of powdered sugar.

Police began an investigation to determine whether there had been criminal negligence.

Challenge to Debate Refused By Goldwater

Scranton Backers Hope to Win Floor Fight on Platform

BY JACK BELL
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The gates swing open today on the 28th Republican convention, fenced in tightly by hard-driving supporters bent on giving Sen. Barry Goldwater a first-ballot presidential nomination.

Thundering over the opposition Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton was attempting to provide Goldwater's outlanders already had put the Arizona senator's conservative brand on the platform the convention will be asked to adopt Tuesday. And Goldwater promptly rejected a challenge by Scranton for a debate before the convention.

Goldwater moved into the convention's opening day with 740 first-ballot votes credited to him in an Associated Press poll — 85 more than the 655 needed for nomination if they remain in his column. This total includes 303 delegates who favor him but are not officially bound. The survey credited Scranton with 160 votes, none of them bound to him.

Opens at Noon
Scranton, out-gunned at every turn, tried to rally his scattered forces for a last-ditch effort Tuesday to revive in a convention floor fight some of the proposals shot down within the Goldwater-dominated platform committee. At the cavernous Cow Palace, National Chairman William E. Miller, a leading candidate for the vice presidential nomination, banged the gavel at noon. Opening session greetings were to follow, along with the election of Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon as temporary chairman.

Probing for an opening in the encircling Goldwater forces, Scranton fired off a letter Sunday night challenging the Arizona senator to an unprecedented debate before the convention. Goldwater rejected that proposal.

Soviets Warn NATO on Nuclear Force Plans

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has warned the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to drop plans for the multilateral nuclear force or the Russians will take "appropriate measures."

In notes delivered Sunday to the embassies of the United States and other NATO countries, the Russians denounced the plan for a fleet of surface ships armed with nuclear missiles as a device to give West Germany access to nuclear weapons.

Goldwater and Scranton Confer With Delegation For Closed-Door Sessions

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — The contenders for the Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. William Scranton, called on the Wisconsin delegation today and the delegates scheduled a "frank and full discussion" on what to do next.

Rep. John Byrnes, Green Bay, to whom the votes still are pledged as the favorite son winner of the April primary, met with delegates and alternates at an open session two hours after his arrival Sunday.

Byrnes, who also is the elected delegation chairman, repeated that no decision has been made on when the delegates would be released to vote their choice and that under no circumstances could it come earlier than late today after the delegates had their discussion meeting.

The Wisconsin delegation met this morning to hear Goldwater and scheduled an early-afternoon meeting to hear Scranton, both at the state's St. Francis Hotel headquarters and both closed to the press at the request of the candidates.

Goldwater's Decision
A schedule put out earlier in the weekend called for the Wisconsin delegation to travel to the Nob Hill hotel of Goldwater and for Scranton to come to the Wisconsin headquarters. This raised some eyebrows as an indication that the state GOP command was showing an obvious preference to accommodate Goldwater, who is credited in speculation on having at present the majority of Wisconsin's 30 votes.

If this was a crack in the uncommitted stance of the delegation, it was removed by Talbot Peterson, Appleton, state party chairman.

Peterson said he met Goldwater Sunday as part of a series of meetings the senator had with state chairmen and Goldwater wanted to come here because he has been going out to see everybody else.

While delegates were still as cautious as before leaving home in expressing their personal choice, Wilbur Renk, candidate for the Senate, said Sunday as few as only five or six votes might hold out for Scranton at the roll call Wednesday night. Renk did not state his own preference.

Need Independent Votes
Renk, identified as a moderate Republican in the past, said he continued to be impressed by the dedication of Wisconsin Goldwater supporters.

"As I said when I filed my papers, they will get out the swing voters," Renk said. Delegates are being bombarded with Scranton literature charging the polls show Goldwater cannot defeat President.

Goldwater Gets 42 of Ohio's 58 Delegates

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater grabbed 42 of Ohio's 58 delegates today in a two-hour caucus.

Ohio's favorite son, Gov. James A. Rhodes, kept 13 votes. Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton saw his Ohio strength dwindle to two votes and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine picked up one vote.

The announcement of how the Ohio delegation divided up came from former U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker as he appeared at the door of the caucus room and talked to newsmen.

New Major Clash In South Viet Nam

Second Biggest Fight Between Government Forces, Guerrillas

BY PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A weekend battle around a mud-walled fort called Vinh Cheo shaped up today as the second biggest engagement between government forces and Communist guerrillas in the Mekong River delta this year.

A roll of government casualties compiled by Vietnamese and U.S. sources totaled 225—50 dead, 110 wounded and 65 missing.

The Communist Viet Cong assault forces also were reported to have suffered heavily. One Vietnamese officer estimated Communist losses at 300 U.S. advisers, however, said they doubted more than 100 were killed or wounded.

The Communists were said to have captured about 100 weapons.

The action, set off by a Red attack on the fort early Saturday, was the biggest since a four-day series of engagements in April around Kien Long, 10 miles from Vinh Cheo. There the government suffered more than 30 casualties. More than 100 of these were killed.

No Americans were involved in the clash at the fort, 100 miles south of Saigon.

Using the 56 militiamen garrisoned for the fort as bait, the Communist guerrillas lured four Civil Guard companies to the outpost and opened fire from ambush.

Body Found in Burning Home

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The body of a 67-year-old man was found in the living room of his first floor flat which, police said, he sprinkled with gasoline and set afire after a family argument.

Joseph A. Mackowiak was pronounced dead at the scene Saturday night. His wife, Josephine, 75, was in satisfactory condition in a hospital with burns on her arms and legs.

Medical examiner's investigators said Mackowiak apparently fell and was unable to get out of the burning house.

Police said that relatives related that Mackowiak had threatened to burn the house down because of arguments between his stepdaughter and her husband who lived on the second floor.

Burma Joins Peking In Request for Talks

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma has joined Communist China in calling for a new 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai ended a surprise two-day visit to Rangoon Sunday. The Burmese Foreign Ministry said the chief topic in the talks between Chou and Gen. Ne Win, head of Burma's military government, was Southeast Asia.

Woman Found After Search

72-Year-Old From Waupaca Loses Way, Sought for 17 Hours

WAUPACA—A 72-year-old Waupaca woman was found injured after a 17-hour search by airplane and with bloodhounds Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Mrs. Charles Nelson, 800 Wesley St., went to a tree farm owned by her daughter and son-in-law, wandered away and became lost Saturday evening. She was found in a wooded area seven miles northwest of here.

The Waupaca County Sheriff Department was notified at 7:30 p.m. and an intensive search was begun. About 30 men from the sheriff department, county police, Waupaca police, the Conservation Department and the state patrol combed the woods until dark, but were unable to find the elderly woman.

Plane Called In
When the search resumed early Sunday morning, a Conservation Department plane was called in, but also was unable to spot Mrs. Nelson.

On the request of Sheriff Loren Frazier, bloodhounds were

Nikita Announces Some Pay Boosts, Pensions for Collective Farmers

BY HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev today announced old age pensions for collective farmers and pay raises for doctors, teachers and employees in housing and service industries.

Khrushchev said the farmers pension measure, affecting about 6.5 million peasants was of tremendous historical importance. Most of them have been outside the pension system.

Monthly Maximums
In a speech at the opening of the summer session of the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, Khrushchev said the agricultural position had improved so that farmers can now be brought under the system.

The pension plan described by Khrushchev envisaged minimum monthly payments of $13.20 and a maximum of $112.20 beginning next year. The payments, however, were tightly hitched to wage levels reached before retirement age 65 for men and 60 for women.

"Let every person know that people is the most important problem for the Soviet Union. If he works well today, he will be better provided for in his old age," Khrushchev said.

Such an approach is in the interests of the collective farmers and in the interests of the entire Soviet society.

Khrushchev announced average wage increases of 25 per cent for workers in education, 23 per cent in public health, 25 per cent in retail trade and 15 per cent in retailing and housing and municipal services.

The increases will begin with public service workers in October and all will be in effect in all categories by the end of 1965, said Tass, the Soviet news agency.

More than 26 million Soviet citizens are receiving pensions. Most collective farmers have been outside this system because of the Soviet people have cause agricultural production was very low. Khrushchev said the total expenditure would come to about $1.4 billion rubles—$1.56 billion at the official rate—a year. Farmers will contribute 2 per cent of their income this year and 3 or 4 per cent in future years.

John Charles Borg and his daughter, Mary Elizabeth; Miss Katherine Gosin and her uncle, Mowry Smith Jr., and Barbara Purdy and her father, Bruce Purdy, talked over the traditional Assembly Ball presentations, held Saturday for the 26th time.

Visiting before the traditional introductions at the Saturday evening event at North Shore Golf Club are Dan Johnson and his daughter, Connie, Kenneth S. Dickinson Jr., and his daughter Lynn, and William Buchanan and his niece, Nancy.

Young Women Introduced at North Shore

Membership Honors 14 at 26th Assembly Ball

The evening belonged to the girls.

Dressed in 'debutante' white, 14 lovely young daughters of North Shore Golf Club members were presented at 10 p.m. by their fathers or sponsors to club president David E. Ryan. He, in turn, to the applause of families, members and guests, introduced the young women.

For the highlight of the North Shore summer social season, the club was decorated with red roses and white daisies. Introductions were made at the beribboned end of the ballroom, where the alcove formed a background of ferns and palms. The presentees carried basket bouquets of red roses as they made their bows.

First Dance With Fathers

After all had been introduced with a musical background that saluted their youth and beauty, the girls shared the first dance with their fathers, before the ribbon was cut and the traditional 'rush' dance began.

Introduced at the 26th Assembly Ball were Miss Annette Marie Anderson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Miss Borg's gown was peau de soie over heavy taffeta with a sheaf of embossed roses cascading down the front. Her escort for the evening was Thomas Bauer.

Miss Buchanan, presented by her uncle, William Buchanan, chose Lewis Cornelius as her Ball escort. For the event she wore a gown of embroidered organdy with an eased bell-type skirt and an organdy jacket. Escorted by Joseph Bowers, Miss Dickinson chose a dress with a white cotton lace bodice and peau de soie skirt. A white satin bow enhanced the back of the cummerbund.

Defends Profession as Exotic Dancer; Works Hard at Job

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In your column recently a wife wrote that she was disturbed because her husband had come home from a stag party where two girls did strip acts. You told the wife she should not be thrown off balance by a "cheap little bimbo whose major talent is parading at stage in the altogether."

For the first time in my life I feel I should defend my profession. I have been an exotic dancer (I prefer this to "stripper") for 12 years. I am no cheap little bimbo but a hard-working woman who paid taxes on $40,000 last year.

When I finished my schooling in the East at age 18, I went to work in the office of a major TV network. In the 10 months I worked there I received more indecent proposals and pinches on my posterior than in the 12 years I have been doing my act.

There can be artistry and taste in exotic dancing. I am told I have a regal bearing which makes men respect me. The average male would think twice before he tried to pinch a woman who buys her own diamonds and trunks—and travels with a 200-pound drummer. Since you claim to be fair, Ann, I hope you will print my letter and give the customers an eyeful—T.N.T.

Dear Dynamite: I try always to be fair and here is your letter. As for "giving the customers an eyeful"—that's your loss, thank you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Have you noticed that service employees are becoming chummer and chummer? I have, and I don't like it.

My butcher always greets me with "Hello, Honey," or "What will you have today, Dear?" I find this embarrassing, particularly when someone I know is standing near.

Am I wrong to feel as I do? Should I say something to the man? Thank you.—Old-Fashioned

Dear Old-Fashioned: If the butcher asked for a date or offered to deliver the pork chops in person you'd have a legitimate beef—no pun intended.

"Hello, Honey," should not offend you. If it's more than you can stand, however, ask him to call you "Mrs. Glockenspiel" in the future. You might also prepare yourself for some stringy roasts and tough T-Bones.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it wrong to discipline the children of guests?

I have two friends who bring their youngsters over regularly. One little two-and-a-half-year-old boy is into everything. He is fast as lightning and unless someone keeps an eye on him every minute he can take a whole house apart.

The boy's mother is one of these "relaxed" types who never sees anything. I have to take matches out of the child's mouth, ash trays out of his hands and move the candy dish on the mantel or he would eat every piece. He has torn up my wedding. To receive your copy, magazines and broken my record of this comprehensive guide. destroy his natural curiosity. Children need to investigate. How about this?—Robbie

Dear Robin: You have not been "disciplining" the boy, you've attempted to protect your property, and the boy against his lack of training. The child who is permitted everything and anything at home will try for anything and everything when he's out. His mother is failing him—badly. A youngster who does not learn what no means is bound to find the world a frustrating and unhappy place to live in and will forever be at odds with those around him. This is how misfits are made.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' newest booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a every piece. He has torn up my wedding. An Hawaiian Party that promises to be as authentic as possible, short of transporting the islands themselves, is planned at Butte des Morts Golf Club Saturday evening. Oil lights will line the walk to the club, where members will dine on Hawaiian foods and drink south sea beverages from pineapple shells. Housewife Responsible for Safety in Home All Day

BY LOIS BLACKBURN Post-Crescent Staff Writer

With the man of the house employed away from home for eight or 10 hours a day, the burden of a 'safe' household falls to the wife and mother. To be safety conscious continually becomes almost an instinct.

A woman spends most of her time in the kitchen and it is there many of the do's and don'ts are developed, not only for her but also for the children.

Remember it is wise to wear well-fitted tailored garments when working in the kitchen. Cupboard drawers and doors should be closed at all times when not in use.

Operating an electric mixer is a thrill for the young cook. Insist that you and your daughter use a rubber scraper when running the mixer and keep it away from the rotating blades.

Do not get the batter into the mixer mechanism.

Deep Fat Frying

Deep fat fried foods seem to be a favorite with many families. It is best to reduce the heat under the pan as soon as the desired temperature has been reached. Fill a pan only one-third full of fat when deep-frying. Be sure the food is dried as thoroughly as possible to avoid water-spattered fat which can cause irritating burns. Kitchen tongs are an aid in re-

Y Girls Plan Hosteling Trip

Activities included in the two-day event are horseback riding, biking, hiking, swimming, and a tour of a cherry orchard.

Planning the dinner for the trip are Mary Otto, Mary Hagen and Nancy Rogers. The breakfast food committee is composed of Marsha Mohr, Lynn Frost and Sally Robertson. The girls will be accompanied by Mrs. Maxine Vanevenhoven, Women and Girls' YMCA program director, and Miss Suzette Thomson.

Meat Keeps Longer

What's the big item on the food budget? Meat! That's why the new meat compartments in refrigerator-freezers are important to the budget-minded family. They are especially cooled, humidified and airtight to keep fresh meat at top quality for days at a time. The family meat supply can be bought once a week and kept safely until needed.

Orange Rind

You can add as much as a tablespoon of grated orange rind to a standard two-cups-of-flour muffin recipe.

Praise Partner, Hide Faults

Kindness and patience are the essential qualities in the care and training of partners. Be ready with a word of praise now and then. It may cover up your own misdeeds.

and East had nothing but praise for this obedience when the hand was over.

"It didn't happen to help us this time," East remarked, "but it shows that you're trying to be a good partner. Just keep leading my suit when I take the trouble to bid a suit, and you'll be on Easy Street."

West glowed with pride, as South scored up the rubber and an overtrick. All of which proves that flattery may not defeat the contract but at least it makes your partner a cheerful loser. East could have been a cheerful winner if he had paid more attention to his own play. East opened the six of hearts as the first trick as an encouraging signal. The encouragement to continue hearts was wanted, for South refused the first trick and West had no other heart to lead. Useless Switch

West had to switch to a different suit, but nothing could help him. The shift to clubs was won in dummy, and declarer naturally began to work on the diamonds.

When East took the king of diamonds he led another heart, and South won a finesse with the jack. Declarer then knocked out the other top diamond and could claim the rest of the tricks.

At every alert reader has surely noticed, East deserved no praise for his play at the first trick. Instead of signalling with the six of hearts, East must overtake with the king of hearts.

If South refuses the first trick, East wins with his king of hearts and can continue with another heart to force out one of declarer's stoppers. South must try to develop the diamonds, but cannot do so in time. East takes the king of diamonds and knocks out the ace of hearts. East then gets in with the ace of diamonds in time to run the rest of the hearts.

Allouez Man Seeks State Senate Seat

John O'Malley to Run as Democrat in Primary Race

John (Jack) O'Malley, Town of Allouez, today said he will be a Democratic Party candidate for the new Second District State Senate seat.

He is the second man to enter the race for the Democratic nomination. Opposing him in the primary will be Donald D. Miller, a Green Bay attorney.

O'Malley said he will file his nomination papers in Madison Tuesday. He was a senatorial candidate for the old district in 1954 and 1958.

'Fighting Campaign'
The new second district includes Calumet County and the southern half of Brown County, including the Town of Allouez, the City of De Pere, the villages of Wrightstown and Denmark and Green Bay's 22nd, 23rd and 24th wards.

O'Malley said he "will bring back an era of a 'Fighting Campaign' of issues" affecting the new district's towns, villages and cities.

The new candidate, whose father was a lieutenant governor and brother a congressman, has been employed in district area industry for 14 years in management and also has represented labor groups for more than a decade.

O'Malley is or has been a member of the board of directors for the Brown County United Fund, the county Guidance Clinic, the Visiting Nurses Association, the Labor - Management Panel and Boy Scout council.

The 53-year-old candidate is married and has five sons. He attended the University of Wisconsin and Marquette University.

He is employed by the Town of Allouez and was a representative for the Building and Construction Trades Workers for seven years.

Republicans who have announced their candidacy for the new district are incumbent Sen. Leo O'Brien, Brown County Dist. Atty. Robert Warren, and real estate agent Gerald Holloway. All are from Green Bay.

University Site To be Aired at Chamber Meeting

KAUKAUNA — Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon and officials of the Chamber of Commerce have scheduled a community meeting for 4 p.m. Friday to discuss site location for the proposed Northwestern Wisconsin University of Wisconsin.

Guest speaker will be Wesley Stehr, member of the Northeastern Education committee for the proposed university in the Fox Valley. Clubs and organizations are asked to send representatives, and businessmen are being contacted to get views on the subject.

Location of the university still is undecided, but much effort has been made to have the school in Green Bay. Chamber of Commerce officials said the university should be more centrally located between Appleton and Green Bay to provide the best possible service to the majority of the population.

132-by-One-Foot Strip Of Land Sought by Man

Arthur School Asks City for Property—Undeeded Because of Platting Mistake

Appleton Plan Commission today tabled a request from a man who wants a strip of land about 132 feet long and one foot wide.

Arthur H. School asked the city to deed the strip along the west edge of 313, 319 and 325 N. Mason St. to him.

The plan commission will instruct School to prepare necessary papers and submit them to the city before it acts.

City Planner Walter C. Rasmussen said the narrow parcel of land was apparently deeded to no one because of a discrepancy in platting. He said it has been off of the city's tax rolls.

A tentative plat including seven lots north of E. John Street just east of the southerly extension of S. Buchanan Street, received approval from the commission.

Dedicate Drive
The plat includes dedication of a proposed Mid Park Drive.

An informal hearing on a request for rezoning of parts of the block north of E. Wisconsin Avenue, between N. Drew and N. Union streets, was scheduled for Aug. 3 at 9 a.m.

Four major projects were approved again to simplify procedures in floating a $1.3 million corporate bond issue. All of them previously received plan commission approval.

Rasmussen said approving them again eliminates the need for a search of records to find the original vote.

Bond consultants for the city, Chapman and Cutler, requested the action. The projects include acquisition of land for relocation of N. Meade Street, acquisition of land for extension of

Resolution May Result in Outagamie County Farm Sale

Supervisors to Debate Reversal of Plamann Park Roadway Action

A county board resolution which may call for the eventual sale of the Outagamie County farm on the county hospital grounds, will be debated by supervisors at Tuesday's regular board meeting.

The resolution was drafted last week by the county's institutions committee after a meeting with hospital trustees.

Also on the agenda for supervisors will be the reversal of board action two months ago which allowed a portion of Plamann Park to be turned over to Supv. Arthur Lecker for construction of a roadway to the park. The action comes on the heels of protest action by Town of Grand Chute residents who have opposed the road construction. Work on the project which began briefly last month has been held up pending the board's investigation of the matter.

Short Discussion
Discussion pertaining to eventual sale of the Outagamie County farm is not expected to be long, according to county officials. Rumors that the county would abandon the farm operation have been paramount for months.

In April, Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer, had indicated the 400-acre farm would be sold, but that the decision would be postponed for at least a year.

Buckley will oppose Incumbent Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, in the Republican column during the September primary election.

Buckley said the "legislative reapportionment struggle which has opened the wounds in Wisconsin for the past several years focuses the need for a state senator who speaks equally well for all segments of his constituency and whose senate vote is cast for each person he represents."

"If I attain this goal, I promise fair, equitable representation for everyone in Waupaca and Outagamie counties—there are no strings attached to me," he said.

Report From San Francisco

Counterfeit Tickets Add to Worries Of Platform Chairman Melvin Laird

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO — Aided by the pressures and the worries of Convention Platform Committee Chairman Melvin R. Laird during the weekend was the counterfeiting of tickets of admission to his crowded hearing room in the convention headquarters hotel.

But the Wisconsin congressman was equal to the occasion. The legitimate tickets were hurriedly imprinted with his heavy facsimile signature. There was some confusion as the decisive last hearings of the committee got underway, but they were held on schedule.

It has been a long time, undoubtedly, since the case-hardened political reporters turned up an hour early at a political meeting in order to be fairly sure of getting a place to stand. That goes for this correspondent, too.

Perhaps never in the history of the country has a political event been covered with the intensity of effort and expenditure by the news media. During the weekend the news representatives vastly outnumbered the politicians, and they may continue to do so even after all the delegates and alternates arrive.

At one of the innumerable dinner parties held by the top GOP brass was one in honor of Robert L. Pierce, the Wisconsin Republican national committeeman and convention arrangements boss.

GOP National Chairman William Miller found a way to bid Pierce's party service, while taking a job at the partisan enemy.

Recalling that the Wisconsin Republican nominee, which is party man has spent the last six months in San Francisco supervising convention planning, will be his unofficial campaign chief in the Midwest.

The LaCrosse business executive was one of a dozen of the key members of the Goldwater campaign board of strategy which worked with infinite pain and skill during more than a year leading down delegate commitments.

In some widely distributed press reports Hood has been described as the Wisconsin party chief. But he does not now hold a party office. He was state party chairman about a decade ago, and later served a term on the national committee.

Was any leading candidate for a presidential nomination ever subjected to such careful cross-examination on his beliefs and views as was Sen. Goldwater when he testified before the convention platform committee?

This reporter has attended national political party conventions for 25 years, and remembers nothing that even faintly resembles a precedent.

Some onlookers who know Goldwater from his frequent appearances at Wisconsin Republican Party affairs thought he appeared tense and slightly ill at ease as he confronted what was probably the most crucial experience of his political career. No doubt he knew that his short speech and his handling of interruptions were the most important of his final acts before the nomination balloting.

As a personal impression, it seems that the senator has added writing talent to his staff. Some of his phrases and constructions had a decidedly artistic touch.

If Sen. Goldwater becomes the Republican nominee, which is

Panners Complete Uniform Building Code for Valley

Proposal Being Readied to Give To Members

MENASHA — A uniform building code for the Fox Cities has been completed and is being readied for presentation to the various municipalities for study, Eugene Franchett, planning director for the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, said today.

Franchett said the code will be presented to the various municipal units as soon as it has been put into legal language.

The code, which would make uniform in Fox Cities various aspects of building, is in four parts: building, plumbing, electrical and heating.

Four committees under an administrative group were formed to study the four sections of the code.

They began work on the code early this year.

The four committees under the direction of the administrative group were made up of engineers, architects, builders and contractors and other lay and professional persons throughout the valley. Working with the committees were building inspectors from the various municipalities.

AVS Budget Up $23,000 Over Year Ago

Tuition fees in 1963-64 brought in $21,388.

Of the total expenses of $411,604, the greatest individual category is for day teaching costs, budgeted for the current fiscal year at $170,317. In the previous year, this item cost $161,178.

Second largest item was for education equipment (which included data processing equipment), budgeted for the current year at $74,888.

Not Budgeted

Last fiscal year, this item was budgeted at $17,063, but $67,313 actually was spent.

This is because the data processing equipment purchased in the previous fiscal year was not budgeted. Its cost will be paid from the current budget, Bertram said.

A few revisions are expected which may affect the final budget. Federal aids may be less, "due to prorating of funds for educational purposes," Bertram said.

Bertram said the budget was complete except for two equipment items. The final budget will be ready by Sept. 1, he said.

New Violence Feared on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The possibility of another explosion in the simmering Cyprus dispute faced the U.N. peacekeeping force today after it reported the landing of reinforcements to both Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus, convened an emergency session of his Cabinet Sunday to consider what a government source called "the clandestine landing of Turkish troops on Cyprus."

The source said the government expects the U.N. Security Council and the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, now meeting in London, to help the Greek Cypriots meet the "Turkish aggression."

Many Types of Savings Plans Are Available for Families

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

People are getting smarter in the ways of banking. Even the small depositor has come to realize that keeping a savings account can mean more than simply putting his money in a bank for security and earnings.

He can make sure it serves a specific purpose. He's also learning that he can, and probably should, have more than one savings account.

Let's take a look at the more popular and less complicated kinds of savings accounts that figure in the average family's budgeting:

The Joint Savings Account: Two people have the right to withdraw and deposit. A new trend in setting up this type of account is to put the money in trust for another person. With the speed of living today, and the possibility of both owners of the account being involved in a single accident, it makes sense to name a third individual as beneficiary. Otherwise, the money simply goes into the estate of the last deceased.

Both Signatures Not Required: In this type of account, either party can withdraw and deposit without the other's consent or authorization. According to a spokesman for the American Bankers Association, the old-fashioned practice of requiring both signatures for withdrawal of money from joint savings accounts has proved so cumbersome it has more or less died on the vine. In fact, in some banks this arrangement may not even be available any more. So if you don't trust your co-depositor, just don't set up a joint account!

The Individual Savings Account: This you probably expect to use for your own needs, but the trend today is to open individual accounts with a beneficiary. There's less chance, if anything happens to you, for the money to remain unclaimed until the bank's routine checkup reveals the fact that it's there.

Be sure to notify the person you name as beneficiary. Remember that it's not the bank's obligation to track down the beneficiary, which could be a lengthy and costly process. Of course, if your pass book is readily available in your personal papers at the time of your death, whoever handles your affairs will take the proper action in the interests of the beneficiary.

Most savings banks try to find the owners of unclaimed deposits after a fixed period of time, though they're not required by law to do so.

Grange Has Safety Theme

Skit, Quiz Make Up Program at South Greenville

GREENVILLE — A safety program was presented when the South Greenville Grange met Friday. Also on the agenda were reports on the state juvenile camp July 7-10 at Hortonville Park.

The safety program, with Mrs. Wendell Breitenbach, lecturer, in charge, consisted of a skit given by Wendell Breitenbach, narrator, with Harold Reinders, Clarence Jamison, Paul Porter, Mrs. Lester Pingel and Mrs. Isaac Hart.

A safety quiz was conducted by Mrs. Breitenbach, and pointers were given on how to keep awake while driving.

Fourteen juveniles attended the camp. Greg Simon was the boy's councillor at the camp. He also attended the youth camp at Camp Forsythe. Mrs. Joseph Simon, juvenile matron of South Greenville, attended and helped with the ritual work. Elmer Root was in charge of nature hikes; Mrs. Elmer Root, nature craft; Paul Porter, evening recreation, and Mrs. Porter helped with entertainment during the day. Mrs. Floyd Brightman and Mrs. Lydia Johnson were cooks.

New super J G's are Kathy Simon and John Julius. Older ones are Bonnie Ross, Stanley Breitenbach and Connie Shelly. Two other members from South Greenville Juvenile Grange will finish tests and receive awards.

Body May Offer Clue to Fate of 'Rights' Workers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An autopsy at the University Medical Center on the lower half of a body may yield a clue today in the case of three missing civil rights workers.

A fisherman found the decomposed lower torso, its feet bound with rope, Sunday in Old River where it cuts away from the Mississippi about 15 miles south of Tallulah, La.

Tallulah is 125 miles southwest of Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers disappeared June 21 shortly after their release from jail on a speeding violation.

The condition of the body made it impossible to tell the sex or race. Officials notified Mississippi and FBI authorities searching for the missing trio. The body was taken to Jackson.

The dead person apparently had been wearing blue jeans and tennis shoes. A leather belt on the trousers had a metal buckle with the initials "M."

The missing workers are Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white, of New York City, and James Chaney, 22, Meridian Negro.

The pockets also yielded a gold watch, a key chain with two keys, and a piece of paper with the words "A&M College."

Three Plead Guilty Of Topsy Driving Counts

Two Appleton men and one from Escanaba, Mich., have pleaded guilty today to charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and were fined.

Lester Remter, 28, 309 E. Commercial St., who was arrested Sunday and Roland Leitzke, 57, 2003 N. Meade St., who was arrested by Appleton police Friday, were fined $175 each in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Frederick N. Deno Jr., 20, route 1, Escanaba, Mich., was fined $150 and costs or 45 days in Winnebago County Jail after he pleaded guilty in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. His driver's license automatically was revoked.

Appleton police arrested Remter after an accident on E. Wisconsin Avenue. Police said Remter left the accident scene and was followed by another motorist.

3 Arizona Accidents Kill 17

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—At least 17 persons died Sunday in three Arizona traffic accidents caused by sand and rain storms.

This was the official count by the Arizona Highway Patrol.

Eight persons burned to death and 17 were injured, five critically, when at least 14 cars and trucks piled up during a sand storm on Interstate 10 about 35 miles northwest of Tucson.

Seven died in a collision near Williams in northern Arizona when a car slid broadside on U.S. 66 into the path of another vehicle.

Two persons died when a car ran off State Route 84 north of Troy W. Sparks, 41, his wife off the pavement. Killed were Faye, and their daughters, Sonja, 14, Lynn, 12 and Debbie, 6. Ricardo L. Montes, 24, address unknown.

The highway patrol said the occupants in the other car unknown.

Fire erupted and the car's occupants burned to death.

Other vehicles, bunched together in the roaring sandstorm, smashed into the wreckage in a chain reaction.

Jim Weaver, a service station operator at nearby Picacho Pass, described the heat as overwhelming and said, "There were no places larger than three-foot square left of the first car."

Three trucks and several cars burned for at least five hours after the accident, despite rain and the efforts of firemen from Tucson and Casa Grande.

The accident on U.S. 66 claimed five members of a Denton, Tex., family. They were off the pavement. Killed were Troy W. Sparks, 41, his wife off the pavement. Killed were Faye, and their daughters, Sonja, 14, Lynn, 12 and Debbie, 6. Ricardo L. Montes, 24, address unknown.

The highway patrol said the occupants in the other car unknown.

Scranton Forces to Make Last Stand Over Platform

Do or Die Struggle Designed To Deny Goldwater Nomination As GOP Presidential Candidate

BY EDMOND LEBRETON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton's forces are making the proposed Republican platform the battleground in their do-or-die struggle to deny Sen. Barry Goldwater the presidential nomination.

That is the day for considering the party platform, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, Scranton's manager, promised to force votes on major amendments in a struggle for "the soul of the Republican party."

Eisenhower Not Familiar With Role At Conventions In Past He Was GOP Candidate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—In the past, Dwight D. Eisenhower has come to Republican conventions as a candidate for president and as president of the United States.

At this year's convention he is east in the unfamiliar role of consultant to a broadcasting company.

Eisenhower made his debut on the American Broadcasting Co. network Sunday, shortly after he had arrived in town, and at one point in the program it seemed as though he felt he had made a mistake in entering into the contract.

Program Format
The format of the program is for Eisenhower to be interviewed by James C. Hagerity, an ABC vice president who was his White House press secretary for eight years, and William H. Lawrence, ABC political news editor.

Lawrence asked him if he felt his participation in the convention "has been inhibited in any way as a result of being made a consultant with us." Lawrence remarked that "this charge has sometimes been made."

"This is what I think, Bill," the general said. "I may have made a mistake 14 months ago when I decided to take this position. I am not sure, but in any event it is too late to change that."

Double-Cross
As Eisenhower went on to say that it now would be "completely a doublecross on my part to change that position," Lawrence came in with a clarifying question.

"You mean you may have made a mistake when you said you would remain neutral throughout this contest?"

"Yes," Eisenhower told him, going to reiterate that in urging leading Republicans 14 months ago to make themselves available for the presidential nomination he had assured them he was not going to be for or against any of them.

Rough Spots
This was one of the rough spots in the program, and he had to be prompted at another point when the name of Gov. George W. Romney of Michigan slipped his mind. For the most part it went off smoothly enough, even though it produced no startling news.

Eisenhower said, as he has before, that he is not going to express a preference among the GOP presidential candidates, either publicly or privately.

He said that when he addresses the convention Tuesday his whole purpose will be "to try to show these people that Republicans and Republicanism are more important than is any individual."

Such a fight would be a major element in Scranton's drive to change enough delegates' minds to block Goldwater's indicated first-ballot nomination Wednesday.

From across the party line came indications that Democrats were girding for the fray on the assumption that Goldwater and the platform would win GOP approval.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey in Washington called the Republican platform draft a "fantasy, conceived in a shadowland of fear and hate" and containing "every radical right cliché."

But the platform committee chairman, Melvin R. Laird, said the group was not dictated to by Goldwater or anyone else. The Wisconsin congressman predicted its product will be "supported by the overwhelming majority of delegates Tuesday night."

Map Strategy
The document being sent to the rank and file delegates, while Scranton forces map their parliamentary strategy to fight it—reflects Goldwater's expressed views on point after point and omits the major position statements for which Scranton pleaded in person and through his representatives on the drafting group.

Scranton wanted a repudiation of political extremism, with a specific disavowal of the John Birch Society and a plank opposing any shift from the president to any military commander of authority over use of any nuclear weapons.

These didn't get into the draft platform at all, and instead of declaring the new Civil Rights Act constitutional, as Scranton demanded, the document writers pledged "full implementation and faithful execution."

Different Platform
The platform, completed Sunday after protracted argumentative all night and day committee sessions, differs from the 1960 document in several respects—with the Goldwater influence notable.

The Goldwater view on medical care of the aged through federal-state arrangements was adopted and the 1960 document's proposals for modest federal aid in building elementary and secondary schools were dropped. Some switching of taxes from federal to state treasuries was proposed as a substitute.

Fox Point Man Is New Masonic Grand Master
MILWAUKEE (AP)—Louis A. Stocking, an attorney from suburban Fox Point, is the new grand master of Masons in Wisconsin.

Other grand lodge officers are William J. Kahlenburg of Two Rivers, deputy grand master; Doyn Inman of Greenfield, senior warden; Robert V. Osborne, Racine, junior warden; Alfred G. Trimmer, Milwaukee, treasurer; and Paul W. Grossenbach, Milwaukee, secretary.

AP Installs 3rd Computer At Convention

NEW YORK (AP)—A third computer was put to work by The Associated Press Sunday to help speed news to its newspaper members in the United States.

The AP for more than two years has been using a computer system to tabulate trading on the stock exchanges and to produce perforated tape for automatic typesetting of market tables. The system was the first of its kind.

Sunday's innovation, another first, extends use of a computer to the production of justified tape for a national news circuit edited and transmitted from New York and carrying general news of top importance. The TA circuit delivers perforated tape for automatic typesetting from coast to coast.

Transmission Speed
In conjunction with computer use, the transmission speed of the circuit has been increased from 33 words per minute to 66 words per minute.

This means newspapers will receive more words of copy per hour. Computers place more words into each column of type than is possible in manual operation. Another advantage will be improved over-all appearance of the news columns.

In a few days use of the computer will be extended to include production of tape for AP's national sports wire, also a 66-word per minute circuit.

Perforated Tape
A computer can instantly perform functions in producing perforated tape which manual keyboard operators find time-consuming. These include the calculations necessary to produce lines of type of uniform width—known in the trade as justification—and in hyphenating words at the end of lines.

Computerized tape for automatic typesetting is mechanically perfect. Justification is exact in all lines. Word hyphenation, achieved at split-second speed, exceeds accuracy reached in manual operations. The result is increased production.

California Senator Is A Sightseer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—In a sense, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, California's ranking Republican, is the loneliest man at the Republican National convention.

He isn't even a delegate. The assistant Senate Republican leader scanned the skyline of San Francisco from his 23rd-floor hotel suite and said cheerfully, "I'm here as a sightseer."

His only chore: to deliver a five-minute welcoming speech to the opening session at the Cow Palace today.

"Otherwise," he said, "I'll just be a spectator in the gallery."

Kuchel, you see, backed the wrong candidate in California's June 2 primary. He was for Nelson A. Rockefeller. More than that, he was chairman of the 86-vote delegation pledged to the New York governor.

Former Sen. William F. Knowland led a rival Goldwater slate to a victory that served to turn the national convention into an apparent walkaway for the Arizona conservative.

It also lifted Knowland out of the political shadows to which he was consigned after giving up his Senate seat in 1958 to run unsuccessfully for governor of California.

An obviously happy, almost jaunty Knowland presided over an organizational caucus of the state's delegation Sunday.

Scranton Is Threatened By Rebellion

Could Upset Bid For Nomination By Pennsylvanian

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A rebellion within the Pennsylvania delegation threatens to short-circuit Gov. William W. Scranton's bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater within the 64-vote delegation attempted Sunday night to seek a head-count to test sentiment.

Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, acting as chairman while Scranton was at a $500-a-plate GOP fund-raising dinner, quickly gavelled them down and adjourned the caucus.

Theodore L. Humes—an early Goldwater advocate—burst out of the closed-door session shouting, "He refused to let me speak."

Delegate Poll
Until Sunday The Associated Press delegate poll gave Scranton 62 votes and Goldwater two. Three other delegates abandoned Scranton Sunday, making themselves officially uncommitted. Privately, all three indicated they will be for Goldwater on the first ballot.

Humes contended there would be a minimum of 10 Goldwater votes on the first ballot.

The rebellion developed within an hour after Scranton issued a formal challenge to Goldwater for an unprecedented debate before the Republican National Convention. Goldwater rejected the challenge as "ridiculous."

Late Sunday night Scranton and 49 top supporters and advisers including the man who is to nominate him Wednesday, Milton Eisenhower, brother of the former president—met to review the status of the Scranton effort.

Floor Manager
Sen. Hugh Scott, Scranton's convention floor manager, said the group unanimously reaffirmed their support of the Pennsylvania governor. Scott said they heard reports of "important inroads" on Goldwater delegates, but he declined to specify status or totals.

Blair F. Gunther, Allegheny County commissioner, said he had planned to ask Scranton to release Pennsylvania delegates from their pledge to support Scranton. Gunther said the promise of support was made when Scranton was a favorite son candidate for "tactical political reasons," and not an active candidate.

Gunther, one of those who took himself off the Scranton roster Sunday said he had long been for Goldwater, but had backed Scranton as long as the governor was a favorite son.

State Caucus
Though no further state caucus is scheduled, Gunther said that "at the crucial moment—before the first ballot—I will ask the governor to release the delegates. I'm going to do it as close to the nomination as possible."

The shaky situation within his own delegation did not slow Scranton's hunt for delegates elsewhere. Scott said Scranton had contacted all or part of 17 delegations Sunday.

At Civil Rights Rally

Goldwater Denounced As 'Not Acceptable'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater was denounced as a totally unacceptable Republican presidential candidate by speakers at a massive civil rights rally Sunday.

The demonstrators, both Negro and white, were estimated by police to number around 35,000. They moved slowly, 15 abreast, up Market Street to the Civic Center Plaza where they were addressed by Negro civil rights leaders including James Farmer, national head of the Congress of Racial Equality and William Chester, chairman of the San Francisco Negro Labor Assembly.

Addressed Marchers
New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Henry Cabot Lodge, and New York Sens. Jacob Javits and Kenneth Keating also addressed the marchers. They did not mention Goldwater by name.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who has campaigned for a stronger civil rights plank in the GOP platform, was not present at the rally. Aides said this was because the governor had many previous commitments including an appearance on a national television show.

"This is the face of freedom," said Rockefeller.

Ex-Premier of Iran Dies of Pneumonia

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Former Premier Hussein Ala, 79, died today of pneumonia at his home on the outskirts of Tehran.

In 57 years as a diplomat and politician, Ala was premier twice. He also once was ambassador to Washington.

His greatest success came in 1947 when he argued Iran's complaint before the United Nations against the Soviet army's occupation of northern Azerbaijan. The Russians finally moved out.

Debates by Candidates For Presidency Called Desirable 'Generally'

Not Always Feasible for President to Participate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Television debates between presidential candidates are generally desirable, a study commission says, but "in some . . . situations it may be contrary to our national interest for the president to engage in debates."

The conclusions were reached by a nine-member commission of the American Political Science Association, headed by Carl J. Friedrich, a professor of government at the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration.

The presidential candidate who also is president," the commission said, "must consider fully the duties and responsibilities of his office before engaging in campaign debates. Only he can decide whether he will debate his opponents during the campaign. The decision is properly his."

1960 Campaign
A highlight of the 1960 campaign was the series of debates between John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon. Before his assassination, Kennedy said that even as president he would be willing to debate his opponent in 1964.

President Johnson has not announced whether he would be willing to debate a campaign opponent, but some sources say he plans no such encounter.

Legislation which would waive equal time provisions to permit such debates this year would waive equal time provisions to permit such debates this year still is waiting for final approval of Congress. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, said during the weekend he has no plans for immediate Senate action.

Study Commission
The study commission said that properly conducted television debates "are a desirable extension of traditional campaigning" and "add a useful dimension to American public life" if the incumbent is not involved.

"However, the matter is less certain when one of the major party candidates is president," the report said. "Extraordinary situations may be created by the exigencies of the world situation and the international position of the United States."

It cited the Cuban invasion and the missile crisis as recent examples of situations in which presidential debates might hurt the national interest.

The study was financed by a grant from the National Broadcasting Co., but the association said the study commission "had complete independence."

Foxes Edge Waterloo, Will Meet Twins Here Tonight

Caria Faces Co-Leaders on 'Post-Crescent Booster Night;' Radio-TV Team Duels Writers

BY MIKE WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Ed Petryshyn weathered low temperatures and scattered periods of wildness at Goodland Field Sunday night and pitched Fox Cities to a 3-2 victory over Waterloo before 344 curiously fans.

The Foxes experienced a little chill at the plate themselves, but Petryshyn made four hits count for three runs and defeated Waterloo starter Jim Thornton.

Radio-TV press softball and Steve Caria's fast ball will be on hand tonight. At 7 p.m., the radio-TV team will meet the Post-Crescent writers in an exhibition softball game on "Post-Crescent Booster Night." (Adult tickets have been reduced to 75 cents for the twin bill). Pitcher Caria will lead the Foxes against Wisconsin Rapids, co-leader of the Midwest League, at 8 p.m.

Petryshyn yielded single runs to the Hawks in the first and third innings, each without allowing a base hit. In the first, he walked three batters forcing in the run with a base on balls to Reggie Smith. Three more walks in the fifth produced the other run and poor baserunning prevented the Hawks from scoring more.

Trailing 1-0, the Foxes Dave May lined a single to left field with two out in the home first. He promptly stole second and went to third as the catcher's peg went wild. A single to right by Fred Rico tied the game.

The Foxes completed their scoring in the third, chalking up two more with only one hit. Bob Lewandowski worked Thorn for a walk and advanced to third on John Matias' single to right. On a 3-2 pitch, May grounded to shortstop Al Montreuil, who threw to the plate too late to get the sliding Lewandowski.

After Matias and May worked a double steal, Huntz skied to Turn to Page 6, Col. 3

Bob Seiy Bows in Finals

Chuck Bleckinger, Rushton, Vought Win Titles in State Open Meet

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH—Chuck Bleckinger, Oshkosh, soared through two men's singles matches Sunday at the Menominee Park courts here en route to annexing the top prize in the Wisconsin Open Tennis tournament.

Bleckinger warmed up with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Milwaukee's Bruce Fraser in the semis. Chuck defeated veteran Milwaukeean Bob Seiy in the finals, 6-3, 9-7.

Appleton's George Rushton garnered the senior veterans singles titles in a 3-set final victory over M. F. Lathrop. Park Ridge III, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Rushton's son Jeff won the Open's boys 16- and under singles crown earlier in the tournament.

Rushton eliminated Milwaukee's Gil Jahnke in the morning semi-final set, 6-2, 6-2.

Vought Rallies

Don Vought repeated as the Junior veterans champion via a 6-2, 6-4 verdict over Milwaukee's Richard Banaszak in the finals. The Neenah netter ousted Oshkosh's Bob Luedtke in the semis 6-4, 6-2. Vought rallied Seiy's lob returns were repeatedly slammed to the court by the match with three straight Bleckingers as the veteran was forced into playing a retrieving service made the count, 5-4, but game.

the Oshkosh competitor failed to break the Neenah netman's service the rest of the way. Mequon's Barbara Mueller defeated Sue Sterrett, Wauwatosa, in a 3-set marathon, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-1 for the women's singles crown. Miss Mueller, daughter of a Milwaukee tennis professional, won the women's honors in 1963.

Bleckinger and Milwaukee's Wayne Peacock successfully defended their men's doubles title with a 6-1, 6-4 decision over Vilis Caken and Sandy Soms.

The Bleckinger-Peacock tandem eliminated Mickey Szilagy, Pete Bronson, a left-handed duo via Milwaukee, in the semis, 6-4, 6-1. Caken - Soms duelled through three long sets before gaining the finals with a 6-4, 10-12, 6-3 win over Jack Fitzpatrick and Jim Erickson.

Bleckinger, who lost in the finals in '63 to Lee Fentress of New Orleans, La., and Tulane University, had little trouble with Milwaukee's Seiy.

Chuck broke Seiy's initial service in the match and went from a 3-0 lead to the 6-3 set victory via Milwaukee, in the semis, 6-4, 6-2. Vought rallied Seiy's lob returns were repeatedly slammed to the court by the match with three straight Bleckingers as the veteran was forced into playing a retrieving service made the count, 5-4, but game.

Bleckinger took command in the third game of the second set, breaking Seiy's service for a 2-1 margin. Seiy evened the count at five games apiece by stopping Bleckinger's service for the only time in the match.

The pair exchanged games until Bleckinger broke up the service of Seiy in the 15th game for an 8-7 edge.

Seiy eliminated Soms, 6-2, 6-3, in the morning semi-final round. Rushton's opponent, Lathrop, ousted Milwaukee's Harry Jens, 9-7, 6-3, in the Senior Vets semi-finals. Banaszak earned the right to meet Vought with a 6-2, 6-2 win over Bob Curtis in the semis.

Jerry Sullivan and Bob Lohr learned to win the Junior Veterans doubles crown with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Wausau's Billy Reed and Banaszak. Reed-Banaszak eliminated Vought and Darrell Schultz, Neenah, in the semis, 7-5, 6-2. Sullivan-Lohr encountered difficulty before notching a three-set quarter-final victory over Lathrop and Oshkosh's Fintan Flanagan, 9-7, 2-6 and 6-3. The champs were extended to three sets in the semis before posting a 7-5, 5-7, 6-3 win over Bud Shirley, Wauwatosa, and Bob Curtis, Janesville.

Braves Knock Phils Out of Lead With Sweep of Twin Bill

Blasingame, Hoft, Bolling Play Key Roles; Spahn Hurts Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, the vagabonds of the National League standings, have suddenly given direction to their wanderings and are headed upward another time.

Their move already has claimed one victim—the Philadelphia Phillies who were knocked out of first place when defeated 4-3 and 6-2 by Milwaukee in Sunday's doubleheader.

With the twinbill conquest, the Braves, who have won 11 of their last 15 starts, regained fifth place and are only 8 1/2 games behind the San Francisco Giants, who took over the lead from the Phillies.

Biggest Heroes

Sunday's biggest heroes were left-handed hurlers Wade Blasingame and reliever Billy Hoft, and Frank Bolling.

Rookie Blasingame started the first game and lasted into the eighth before he wilted in the heat, gave up a pair of walks and was replaced. He had allowed only four hits.

The Braves got all of their runs in the opener in the third inning at the expense of All-Star pitcher Chris Short, who was replaced after four innings and took his fifth loss against seven victories.

Blasingame started the rally with a single and Mike de la Hoz and Bolling did the same. Hank Aaron singled home two runs, and after an out, Gene Oliver doubled in two more.

Johnny Callison belted his 13th homer in the fourth and Blasingame held the Phils off until the eighth when he walked the first two batters. Bob Tiefenauer hurried from the bullpen, but tossed a wild pitch, allowing both runners to move ahead. An infield out allowed one run to score and a double by Richie Allen sent in another before Chi Chi Olivo took the mound to retire the side.

Blasingame took his second victory against one defeat. Hank Fischer started the second game.

Wisconsin Rapids and Quad Cities continued to share the Midwest League's second-round lead after sweeping doubleheaders Sunday.

The Wisconsin Rapids Twins

while Quad Cities downed Burlington twice, 4-2 and 6-5. Quincy copped both ends of a doubleheader from Cedar Rapids, 3-2 and 8-7. Clinton bombed Des Moines, 14-0.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Pete Ward, White Sox, drove in six runs with two homers in 3-1, 11-4 doubleheader sweep against Kansas City, capping a seven-run eighth inning uprising in the nightcap with his third grand slam of the season.

PITCHING—Galen Cisco, Mets, broke his six-game losing streak by besting Cincinnati's

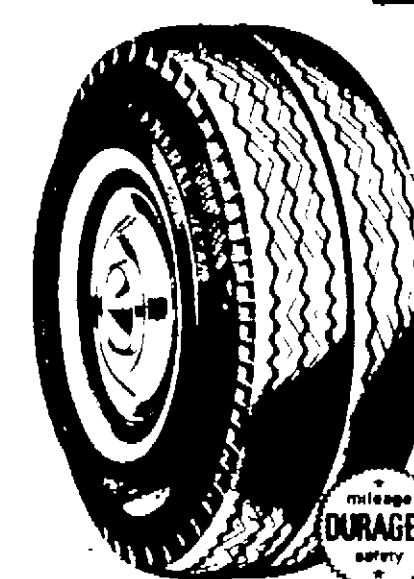

Joey Jay 1-0 in a battle of six-hitters.

Giants Take Over Lead Despite 5-4 Loss to Houston

Mets Sweep Pair From Reds; Cubs, Dodgers Split Twin Bill

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are moving—but in a northerly direction.

Numbered to be headed to Atlanta and subjected to some caustic comments about their talents, the Braves ignored the former and answered the latter Sunday by continuing their sudden climb up the National League standings into fifth place.

The Braves, hogged down in sixth place two weeks ago, made it 11 victories in their last 15 games by sweeping a doubleheader from Philadelphia 4-3 and 4-2, knocking the Phillies into second place behind San Francisco.

The Braves' latest outburst came just two days after the Milwaukee County board chairman, Eugene Grobchmidt, fired a verbal broadside at the players, charging they were "definitely capable of playing better baseball."

"There's something funny going on," said Grobchmidt. "The fans are doing their part but the players are in a slump. Something's happening."

Something's happening all right—Hank Aaron has been laying the groundwork for the Braves' streak with some amazing stickwork.

The slugging outfielder collected four hits against the Phillies—including No. 2,000 of his career—and extended his hitting string to 16 games. During that stretch, Aaron has driven in 17 runs while hitting at a .394 clip and lifting his average to .312—sixth best in the league.

The Phillies, meanwhile, lost their fourth straight and again changed places with San Francisco in the tight pennant struggle.

One Game Lead
The Giants moved one game out front despite losing to Houston 5-4 in a weird game in which San Francisco reliever Billy O'Dell was ejected before throwing a pitch and Gaylord Perry took over, then proceeded to change his shoes while sitting on the pitchers' mound.

Elsewhere, the New York Mets swept a doubleheader for the first time in more than a year by beating Cincinnati 1-0 and 5-1 while the Chicago Cubs downed Los Angeles 6-3 before the Dodgers won the nightcap 6-2 with a six-run ninth inning.

Snead Defeats Syd Scott in Senior Match

Records Eagle in Easy 7-6 Win Over British Course

WENTWORTH, England (AP) — Sam Snead, the American PGA senior champion, shot an eagle three on the 15th hole Sunday and went on to defeat Syd Scott of England 7 and 6 in their 36-hole match for the unofficial world senior pro golf championship.

The 53-year-old Snead, competing as a senior for the first time this year, won the U. S. PGA title last February. Scott is the British senior pro champion. The victory earned Snead $1,400 in prize money and the Teacher Trophy.

The veteran slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., was only one up after nine holes and even after Scott won the 10th. Then Snead got hot, won five of the next holes and finished the first 18 five up.

Snead lost the first hole of the afternoon round when his second shot disappeared into the trees. They halved the next six holes, then Snead sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie three on the 26th hole. That put him five up again.

Ahead by Six
The American went ahead by six holes when he made a regulation three on the short 28th hole. Scott sliced his drive and took a four.

The match ended on the 30th. Snead snuffed his second shot, chipped up short and finished with a five against Snead's four.

Par for the 6,936-yard Wentworth course is 37-58-75. Snead got his eagle on the 479-yard 15th hole with a drive, a spoon and an eight-foot putt. That enabled him to shoot a four-under-par 32 on the back nine, a streak that shattered Scott's resistance.

Snead had an approximate 37 going out for a morning round of 40 to Scott's 76. He picked up his ball on the ninth hole

Mickey Wright Wins Fourth 'Open' Title

Breaks Par by 3 In Playoff With Ruth Jensen

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mickey Wright captured the United States Women's Open Golf championship Sunday for an unprecedented fourth time when she defeated Ruth Jensen by two strokes in an 18-hole playoff.

The 28-year-old Miss Wright from Dallas—a native daughter of San Diego—fired a three-under-par 70 while Miss Jensen of Seattle—an adopted daughter of nearby Bonnal—finished with a 72.

Miss Wright birdied the sixth hole with a drive and was never headed for the remainder of the match.

The site was the San Diego Country Club, which measures about 6,400 yards and has par of 36-37-73.

The victory was worth $2,500 to Mickey and $1,320 to the 27-year-old Miss Jensen.

The pair wound up in a tie at the end of the regulation 72 holes Saturday with total scores of 290, two under par.

"I hate to lose," said Ruth, "but there is some consolation in losing to the greatest woman golfer in the world."

The two are close friends on and off the golf course and had a leisurely lunch together before teeing off under bright and rather breezy skies.

It was the third time they had met in extra-hole competition with Miss Wright the winner each time.

After nine holes Miss Wright held a one-stroke lead.

when he was in wry scrub, backed away twice without getting out then called it quits.

This was the 11th time the senior champions from Britain and the United States have competed for the title. It was Snead's first appearance in Britain since he and Ben Hogan won the Canada Cup for the United States at Wentworth in 1956.

Herman Barron won the trophy for the U.S. last year.

NEVER FEAR A TRAP

IF APPROACHED WITH CONFIDENCE INSTEAD OF FEAR, IT'S SIMPLY A MATTER OF USING A SMOOTH, EVEN STROKE AND HITTING A COUPLE OF INCHES BEHIND THE BALL.

IN THIS RESPECT I'VE IMPROVED MY OWN GAME SHOT THE YEAR. I'M DOWN TO WHERE I'M OWING VERY EARLY AND FIRMLY. THE RESULT HAS BEEN GREATER CONFIDENCE AND A FULLER COMMAND OF THE SHOT.

ICC Approves Merging of 3 Railroads

Norfolk and Western, Wabash, Nickel Plate Involved by Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved the consolidation of the Norfolk & Western, Nickel Plate, and Wabash railroads into a 7,400-mile system.

The IC, in announcing the decision today, said the Pennsylvania Railroad must get rid of all of its financial interests in the N&W and the Wabash, because the Pennsylvania "is in a position to extend its control over the proposed system."

The transaction involves the merger of the Nickel Plate—formerly known as the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad—into the Norfolk & Western, and the subsequent lease of the Wabash.

Region Affected

The result would be a rail network extending from the port of Hampton Roads, Va., to the Great Lakes and Midwest.

The decision was adopted June 24 by a 10-1 vote. The ICC said the consolidation may not take place unless the Pennsylvania notifies the commission by Sept. 17—30 days after the order takes effect—of its intent to divest.

No particular plan of divestiture was specified, but the ICC said all holdings in the new system must be disposed over a 10-year period.

The order requires that all management ties between the Pennsylvania and N&W be severed by mid-October.

A Pennsylvania spokesman said the railroad would study the ICC report before commenting on the divestiture requirement.

Fair Director Open-Minded About Gambling

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Willard Masterson, director of the Wisconsin State Fair, said Sunday that legalized race track betting would probably attract more people to the fair.

Masterson also said he thought that legalized gambling would add thousands of dollars to the state's income.

He said in an interview, "I wouldn't want to come out flatly for it (parimutuel betting) or law would bring gamblers and against it. I haven't given it a great amount of study. I'm open minded about it."

A bill to legalize race track betting in Wisconsin was tracked properly. I would guess that by the State Assembly in April gangsters are in the minority."

Communist Leader of France Dies

Thousands of Followers File Past His Bier

PARIS (AP)—Thousands of followers today filed past the bier of French Communist leader Maurice Thorez, 64.

Thorez, head of the French party for 34 years, died Saturday aboard a Soviet ship crossing the Black Sea to Yalta, where he was to be treated for a chronic heart condition.

The body was landed at Varna, Bulgaria, where Communist officials said after a post-mortem that Thorez had died of a heart attack.

Thorez' widow, Jeanette Verly, also a party leader, was with him when he died. A Soviet plane Sunday brought her and the body to Paris, where they were met by a large crowd of three of Thorez' sons.

The body was taken to lie in state today and Friday in the City Hall of Ivry-sur-Seine, a workers' suburb with a Communist city government. Thorez represented the district in the National Assembly. The body will be moved Wednesday to party headquarters in the center of Paris and the funeral will be Thursday.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a cable to Mrs. Thorez, saluted her husband as "an outstanding figure of the French and international Communist and workers' movement, a true friend of the Soviet Union, our brother-in-arms in the great struggle for the liberation of mankind."

A coal miner at 12, Thorez at 36 was a founder of the French Communist party. He became regional party director in 1923 and national secretary-general in 1936.

Pope Postpones Summer Vacation

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI was reported today to have postponed his summer vacation again, possibly to finish the writing of a document on birth control.

The 64-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff had been expected to go early this month to his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, 18 miles south of Rome.

Later Vatican sources said the regional party director in 1923 and national secretary-general in 1936.

trip had been put off a week or two

Now Vatican sources say it has been postponed until the end of the month.

Rumors said the Pope was working on at least one policy document and perhaps two.

One report said he hoped to finish the writing of his first encyclical letter, outlining the program of his pontificate, by the time the Vatican Ecumenical Council reconvenes Sept. 14.

Another report said he was also working on a document reviewing Roman Catholic policy on birth control and planned to make it public July 26, the feast day of St. Anne and a day dedicated to Christian mothers.

"I am well aware that my opponent accuses me of living in the 18th century, boys... and shall challenge him to a duel, forthwith!"

Asked if he thought such a law would bring gamblers and against it. I haven't given it a great amount of study. I'm open minded about it."

A bill to legalize race track betting in Wisconsin was tracked properly. I would guess that by the State Assembly in April gangsters are in the minority."

21 Killed in State Highway Crashes, Tying 1961 Records

Clintonville Youth, Hortonville Woman Among Weekend Victims

A Clintonville youth and a rural Hortonville woman became Wisconsin's 519th and 520th highway fatalities in separate accidents Sunday.

Dead are — John B. Olen, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Olen, 119 N. Main St., Clintonville, who was killed about 10:30 p.m. Sunday when he apparently was thrown from his motorcycle about a mile west of the city.

— Mrs. Alfred W. Handachke, 54, route 2, Hortonville, who died Sunday afternoon from injuries received earlier in a two-car accident.

Their deaths were two of 21 reported on Wisconsin highways during the weekend, raising the state's toll to 520, compared with 414 on this date a year ago.

The weekend toll tied the record for a non-holiday weekend set June 23-25, 1961. The 520 figure wasn't reached until Aug. 17 last year. The fatality rate so far this year is 106 ahead of the same date last year.

Judy Owens, 17-year daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Owens of Ellsworth, was killed early Sunday when a car carrying four teen-agers went out of control on a town road five miles east of the Pierce County community and struck an embankment.

Olen apparently was thrown from his motorcycle when he was traveling toward the city on U.S. 45 Waupaca County. Deputy Coroner Dr. Jerry Salan said the death was instantaneous due to a broken neck.

Cause of the accident was unknown. A woman living near the highway reported the accident to Clintonville police who notified Waupaca County police and a state patrolman who was in the police station.

The body was taken to Heuer.

Intensify Quiz Into Slaying Of Educator

COLBERT, Ga. (AP)—FBI and Georgia state agents today pushed an intensive investigation into the mysterious slaying of a Washington Negro educator.

J. J. Casper, assistant director of the FBI, would say only that the investigation is continuing. "I'm in no position to make any comment," he said.

State investigators fanned out Sunday along the route taken through northeast Georgia by Lemuel Penn, 49, director of Washington's vocational high schools, when he was shot at the wheel of his car early Saturday by a night-driving gunman.

Residents along the rural route said Georgia agents went from house to house in their questioning Sunday. Public Safety Director Lowell Conner said there were no arrests and that he had nothing to report.

Killed by Shotgun Blast

Penn, a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, was killed by a shotgun blast fired from a car which passed his automobile from the rear about 10 miles northeast of Colbert. Two other Negro officers riding with Penn escaped injury. The three men had completed a refresher course at Ft. Benning.

The only investigator talking was Madison County Sheriff Dewey Seagraves, who said he was getting nowhere.

"They are not either," Seagraves said, referring to the FBI.

Several residents, spurred by a report that Penn was carrying a large amount of money, theorized that it was a robbery attempt by someone who had followed the men from Ft. Benning.

The sheriff disagreed. He said Penn had only $39 and a government check for $543 in his wallet.

Seagraves said the other two officers, Maj. Charles E. Brown and Lt. Col. John D. Howard, both of Washington, could tell him nothing to give him a lead.

"It was dark and there was a heavy fog," he said. "You couldn't see much."

22 Dead, 128 Ill After Eating at Memorial Rites

STYLIA, Greece (AP)—More than half the people of Stylia gathered Sunday on the 40th day after the death of a kinsman for the traditional Greek Orthodox memorial service.

The widow Ionna Apostopoulou, 60, had arranged the service for her husband Gregory. She also prepared the customary mourning dish of boiled wheat germ, Koliva, eaten as an offering to God to erase the sins of the deceased so he may enter heaven.

Within 30 minutes after the service, villagers began complaining of pain.

By nightfall, 22 persons were dead and 128 seriously ill. The village chief said the widow had mistakenly sprinkled the wheat germ with insect poison instead of powdered sugar.

Police began an investigation to determine whether there had been criminal negligence.

12 Arrested in Riot at Cafe in North Carolina

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—All was quiet at the motor freight restaurant today in the wake of a wild race riot at the truck stop on U.S. 1 near Henderson early Sunday.

Twelve adults, including four white men, who were arrested and charged with failing to obey officers and aiding and abetting in rioting. Four Negro juveniles also were arrested.

Only one person was injured, seriously enough to require hospitalization following the hour and a half riot at the restaurant, two miles north of Henderson, near the North Carolina-Virginia line.

Chief Deputy Sheriff K. K. Robertson said 200 Negro and white persons, men and women, battled sporadically with fists, rocks and bottles following an unexplained quarrel between a Negro and a white man.

"It was lucky nobody got killed," Robertson said.

The restaurant has allowed Negroes use of the front area with white persons only since passage of the civil rights law. Previously, Negroes were served in a back area.

New Major Clash In South Viet Nam

Second Biggest Fight Between Government Forces, Guerrillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A weekend battle around a mud-walled fort called Vinh Cheo shaped up today as the second biggest engagement between government forces and Communist guerrillas in the Mekong River delta this year.

A roll of government casualties compiled by Vietnamese and U.S. sources totaled 225—50 dead, 110 wounded and 65 missing.

The Communist Viet Cong assault forces also were reported to have suffered heavily. One Vietnamese officer estimated Communist losses at 300 U.S. advisers, however, said they doubted more than 100 were killed or wounded.

The Communists were said to have captured about 100 weapons.

The action, set off by a Red attack on the fort early Saturday, was the biggest since a four-day series of engagements in April around Kien Long 10 miles from Vinh Cheo. There the government suffered more than 30 casualties. More than 100 of these were killed.

No Americans were involved in the clash at the fort, 100 miles south of Saigon.

Using the 56 militiamen garrisoning the fort as bait, the Communist guerrillas lured four Civil Guard companies to the outpost and opened fire from ambush.

Body Found in Burning Home

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The body of a 67-year-old man was found in the living room of his first floor flat which, police said, he sprinkled with gasoline and set afire after a family argument.

Joseph A. Mackowiak was pronounced dead at the scene Saturday night. His wife, Josephine, 75, was in satisfactory condition in a hospital with burns on her arms and legs.

Medical examiners' investigators said Mackowiak apparently fell and was unable to get out of the burning house.

Police said that relatives related that Mackowiak had threatened to burn the house down because of arguments between his stepdaughter and her husband who lived on the second floor.

Burma Joins Peking In Request for Talks

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma has joined Communist China in calling for a new 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai ended a surprise two-day visit to Rangoon Sunday. The Burmese Foreign Ministry said the chief topic in the talks between Chou and Gen. Ne Win, head of Burma's military government, was Southeast Asia.

The announcement said both leaders were determined to seek a peaceful settlement of troubles in the area.

72-Year-Old From Waupaca Loses Way, Sought for 17 Hours

Challenge to Debate Refused By Goldwater

Scranton Backers Hope to Win Floor Fight on Platform

BY JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The gates swing open today on the 28th Republican convention, fenced in tightly by hard-driving supporters bent on giving Sen. Barry Goldwater a first-ballot presidential nomination.

Thundering over the opposition Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton was attempting to provide, Goldwater's outsiders already had put the Arizona senator's conservative brand on the platform the convention will be asked to adopt Tuesday. And Goldwater promptly rejected a challenge by Scranton for a debate before the convention.

Goldwater moved into the convention's opening day with Scranton, both at the state's St. Francis Hotel headquarters and in an Associated Press poll both closed to the press at the request of the candidates.

Goldwater's Decision

A schedule put out earlier in the weekend called for the Wisconsin delegation to travel to the Nob Hill hotel of Goldwater and for Scranton to come to the Wisconsin headquarters. This raised some eyebrows as an indication that the state GOP command was showing an obvious preference to accommodate Goldwater, who is credited in speculation on having at present the majority of Wisconsin's 20 votes.

If this was a crack in the uncommitted stance of the delegation, it was removed by Tailor Peterson, Appleton, state party chairman.

Peterson said he met Goldwater Sunday as part of a series of meetings the senator had with state chairmen and Goldwater wanted to come here because he has been going out to see everybody else.

While delegates were still as cautious as before leaving home in expressing their personal choice, Wilbur Renk, candidate for the Senate, said Sunday as few as only five or six votes might hold out for Scranton at the roll call Wednesday night. Renk did not state his own preference.

Probing for an opening in the encircling Goldwater forces, Scranton fired off a letter Sunday night challenging the Arizona senator to an unprecedented debate before the convention. Goldwater rejected this proposal.

Soviets Warn NATO on Nuclear Force Plans

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has warned the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to drop plans for the multilateral nuclear force or the Russians will take "appropriate measures."

In notes delivered Sunday to the embassies of the United States and other NATO countries, the Russians denounced the plan for a fleet of surface ships armed with nuclear missiles as a device to give West Germany access to nuclear weapons.

Goldwater and Scranton Confer With Delegation For Closed-Door Sessions

BY JAMES BARTELT

SAN FRANCISCO — The contenders for the Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Barry Goldwater and Gov. William Scranton, called on the Wisconsin delegation today, and the delegates scheduled a "frank and full discussion on what to do next."

Rep. John Byrne Green Bay to whom the votes still are pledged as the favorite son winner of the April primary met with delegates and alternates at an open session two hours after his arrival Sunday.

Byrnes, who also is the elected delegation chairman, repeated that no decision has been made on when the delegates would be released to vote their choice and that under no circumstances could it come earlier than late today after the delegates had their discussion meeting.

The Wisconsin delegation met this morning to hear Goldwater and scheduled an early-afternoon meeting to hear Scranton, both at the state's St. Francis Hotel headquarters and in an Associated Press poll both closed to the press at the request of the candidates.

More in point is the desperate need of Gov. Scranton for some proof that his campaign has not yet faltered. Goldwater is not likely to provide it, but the stakes are high and Scranton will make an utmost effort to coax the last important uncommitted delegation into his hungry camp.

New Violence Feared on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The possibility of another explosion in the simmering Cypriot dispute faced the U.N. peacekeeping force today after it reported the landing of reinforcements to both Greek and Turkish Archbishops.

Archbishop Makarios, Greek Cypriot president of Cyprus, convened an emergency session of his Cabinet Sunday to consider what a government source called "the clandestine landing of Turkish troops on Cyprus."

The source said the government expects the U.N. Security Council and the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, now meeting in London, to help the Greek Cypriots meet the Turkish aggression.

Institutions May Raise Common Shares Buying

A More Influential Role in Shaping Of Corporate Policies Is Expected

BY DAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The institutional investor has seen his name go up in lights on the stock market marquee since the war. In the present decade and the next he may clinch this star billing by doubling the percentage of common shares he controls on the nation's stock exchanges—or from around 20 per cent now to 40 per cent. He already holds 20 per cent of the corporate bonds.

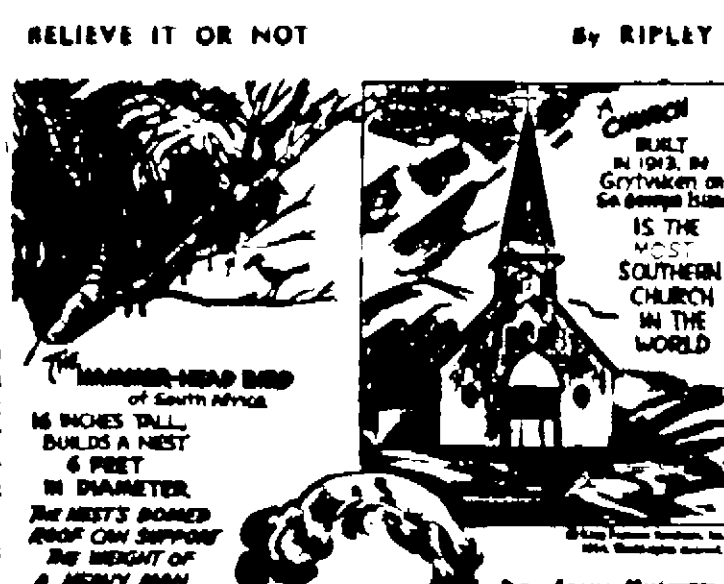

Of late the institutional manager also is playing more of a role in influencing corporate policies. This too could increase unless the number of individual investors multiplies again as fast as it did in the late 1950s or government regulatory agencies move beyond their present stance of apparently increasing curbs only.

Rapid Growth
The rapid growth of institutional ownership of stocks has been largely due to two things: 1. Money has been rolling into the various types of savings in-

Powder Puff Derby Winner Never Wanted to Fly Plane

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—her victory Wednesday night. Mary Ann Noah, Mission, Kan., winner of the 18th annual Powder Puff Derby, never wanted to fly, even though her husband has flown since 1938. "I guess I was chicken," she said after the announcement of the institutions have invested $26.7 billion in corporate bonds, and some $2.4 billion in common stocks listed on the exchange in 1959. She has competed in every Powder Puff Derby—a 2,573-mile cross-country air-plane race for women—since she was hooked. I just fell in love with it."

Lutheran Church Backs Court Prayer Rulings

The U.S. Supreme Court's 1963 decisions against Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools have been endorsed by the Lutheran Church in America during its second biennial convention in Pittsburgh.

Without debate, delegates gave approval to a statement by the LCA's executive council which declared that reciting the Lord's Prayer in school rooms only for the sake of the moral and ethical atmosphere it creates was "worth nothing to the practicing Christian."

Reading the Bible in public schools without comment, the statement added, "has been of dubious value as either an educational or religious experience."

Official standings are computed on the basis of total air time and a handicap based on the plane's capabilities. "It was wonderful," said Mrs. Noah, a pretty blonde mother of four. "We were fortunate to get good winds on the second day out." she said. "We just whizzed from Winslow, Ariz. to Fayetteville, Ark."

Report From San Francisco

Counterfeit Tickets Add to Worries Of Platform Chairman Melvin Laird

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO — Added to the pressures and the worries of Convention Platform Committee Chairman Melvin R. Laird during the weekend was the counterfeiting of tickets of admission to his crowded hearing room in the convention headquarters hotel.

But the Wisconsin congressman was equal to the occasion. The legitimate tickets were hurriedly imprinted with his heavy facsimile signature. There was some confusion as the decisive last hearings of the committee for Rep. John W. Byrnes as a got underway, but they were held on schedule.

It has been a long time, undoubtedly, since the case-hardened political reporters turned up an hour early at a political meeting in order to be fairly sure of getting a place to stand. That goes for this correspondent too.

Perhaps never in the history of the country has a political event been covered with the intensity of effort and expenditure by the news media. During the weekend the news representatives vastly outnumbered the politicians, and they may continue to do so even after all the delegates and alternates arrive.

At one of the innumerable dinner parties held by the top GOP brass was one in honor of Robert L. Pierce, the Wisconsin Republican national committeeman and convention arrangements boss.

State Closes Case Of Oshkosh Man Accused of Slaying

Douglas Dahike Statement Tells Of Relationship With Victim

Special to The Post-Crescent

RENO — Reading of a 10-page statement by accused slayer Douglas A. Dahike ended the state's case Friday afternoon.

A prosecution attorney played the part of Wabsee County Dist. Atty. William K. Raggie in asking questions while the other attorney read Dahike's answers in the statements.

The lengthy statement was given to Raggie in Reno Feb. 11 and was read and signed by Dahike Feb. 28. In the statement, the defendant admitted and described the crime and told of his relationship with his wife Gloria from the time they were sweethearts at Oshkosh High School.

Dahike said his wife had borne him a child out of wedlock while they were still in high school and that his wife was again pregnant at the time they were married in 1957.

Describes Military Service

He told of his Army service including two years in Germany and of his Air Force experience. Dahike described periods of separation he and his wife had while he was in the military, saying she left one time to "find herself." He also said she had a frequent visitor known only to him as Joe, whom he believed was a "father-figure."

He described a time in Milwaukee when he attended college for one year, then was forced to drop school because of grades.

Dahike said that at one time, his wife voluntarily went to a mental institution but left after a few days. He said he then had to commit her and she remained 41 days.

Filed For Divorce

Dahike said his wife had filed for divorce in 1960 in Oshkosh, but that they were able to reconcile.

He said his wife refused to send any of his clothes or a good photo of their son while he was in Germany. He said he later stopped sending her money.

In Dahike's Feb. 11 statement, he elaborated on the Oct. 12 shooting itself. He said he and his wife had driven east of Sparks, a town near here, and had parked along the road to talk.

He said she noticed the revolver under the seat and asked about it. Dahike said he showed her that it was loaded and said she grabbed it and that as he took it back, it discharged sending a bullet through his right index finger and into the back seat.

Gun Fired

Dahike said the gun fired again, and he thought the round struck her in the abdomen. "She kept screaming, and I shot her. The gun was empty. I reloaded and fired another six rounds into my wife. I just sat there. It might have been five minutes or an hour."

Dahike then described placing the body in the trunk, getting his son Eric from a theater in Sparks, eating, selling the firearm, receiving money from his parents in Oshkosh and driving east.

He said he told his son he was never going to see his mother again. Dahike added that he sold the gun in the name of Jerry Kern. Kern had lived with Mrs. Dahike.

Described Burial

Dahike then described burying the body in the basement of his step-father's Oshkosh home. He said he then left Oshkosh and drove to the Presidio Army base at San Francisco, his next duty station. He is a dental technician.

In the statement, he said he had first placed the scene of the crime near Reed Air Force Base north of here because he felt a military or federal trial would reduce publicity.

During the statement, he identified the weapon investigators had obtained, saying it was the one he used "that day."

At the bottom of the statement, he added that no one treated him unfairly.

Two other witnesses testified Friday. One was Sheriff Horikoshi, a criminalist with the San Francisco police department. He testified he had examined Dahike's 1959 Ford Jan. 4 and had found brown stains which later proved to be blood.

Horikoshi said, however, he could not positively identify some of the blood as being of human origin. He said much of the blood found was of human origin and was in Group A blood type.

Under defense questioning, Horikoshi said there is no test to determine the age of the blood and that the stains possibly could have been in the car from nine to 10 years.

Also on the witness stand Friday was Washoe County Sheriff Sgt. Ernest Schwarz, who explained the investigation by local authorities and identified the scene of the shooting.

Defense began today.

Chilton Firm Not Negligent In 1962 Death

Circuit Court Judge Overrules Decision Of State Commission

CHILTON — A Chilton construction firm has been absolved of all negligence in the death of one of its workers, according to a decision by a Dane County circuit judge.

A ruling handed down July 7 by Circuit Judge Richard W. Bardwell reversed the findings of two hearings of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission during the past two years.

The commission decided the April 5, 1962 death of Russell G. Woerth, while working for Hedrich Construction Co., Chilton, on a Rock River Bridge at Newville, was caused by the absence of safety precautions by the construction firm.

Absence of Rails

The decision upheld the findings of a commission examiner who had said the absence of guard rails on a platform-18 feet above the ground had caused the fatal accident.

With these findings the construction firm was ordered to pay 15 per cent of a workman's compensation payment of over $17,000 to Woerth's widow, or about $2,400.

The circuit justice reversed the verdict when he found the scaffold Woerth was working on was not the same as was named in the commission's decision.

The commission had found the scaffold was of a suspended type. Judge Bardwell said, "In our opinion it is apparent that the scaffold in question was not a suspended scaffold within the commission's own rules." He termed the scaffold an elevated scaffold.

The alleged violations, Judge Bardwell ruled, therefore do not apply.

Steffens, who will direct the Frinzi effort in the Fox Cities area, said he wanted to devote his time to running the local headquarters.

Frinzi clarified his Thursday statement promising that, if he is elected, construction of a bridge across Little Lake Butte des Morts would begin next year. Expansion Program Started At Brillion Iron Works BRILLION — The Brillion Iron Works current expansion program will add a total of 6,500 square feet in additional area to the plant. The shell molding addition has been completed, and the core room-compressor room extension is now well underway.

Presently there are three compressors located in the new building. The addition will accommodate the two other units now operating in the maintenance area. The core room-compressor room addition will add about 4,200 square feet of space and is being built at an approximate cost of $25,000.

The shell molding addition was built at a cost of about $2,000.

Allouez Man Seeks State Senate Seat

John O'Malley to Run as Democrat in Primary Race

John (Jack) O'Malley, Town of Allouez, today said he will be a Democratic Party candidate for the new Second District State Senate seat.

He is the second man to enter the race for the Democratic nomination. Opposing him in the primary will be Donald D. Miller, a Green Bay attorney.

O'Malley said he will file his nomination papers in Madison Tuesday. He was a senatorial candidate for the old district in 1966 and 1968.

Fighting Campaign

The new second district includes Calumet County and the southern half of Brown County, including the Town of Allouez, the City of De Pere, the villages of Wriehstown and Denmark and Green Bay's 22nd, 23rd and 24th wards.

O'Malley said he "will bring back an era of a 'Fighting Campaign' of issues" affecting the new district's towns, villages and cities.

The new candidate, whose father was a lieutenant governor and brother a congressman, has been employed in district area industry for 14 years in management and also has represented labor groups for more than a decade.

O'Malley is or has been a member of the board of directors for the Brown County United Fund, the county Guidance Clinic, the Visting Nurses Association, the Labor - Management Panel and Boy Scout council.

The 53-year-old candidate is married and has five sons. He attended the University of Wisconsin and Marquette University.

He is employed by the Town of Allouez and was a representative for the Building and Construction Trades Workers for seven years.

Republicans who have announced their candidacy for the new district are incumbent Sen. Leo O'Brien, Brown County Dist. Atty. Robert Warren, and real estate agent Gerald Holloway. All are from Green Bay.

Body May Offer Clue to Fate of 'Rights' Workers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—An autopsy at the University Medical Center on the lower half of a body may yield a clue today in the case of three missing civil rights workers.

A fisherman found the decomposed lower torso, its feet bound with rope, Sunday in Old River where it cuts away from the Mississippi about 15 miles south of Tallulah, La.

Tallulah is 125 miles southwest of Philadelphia, Miss., where three civil rights workers disappeared June 21 shortly after their release from jail on a speeding violation.

The condition of the body made it impossible to tell the sex or race. Officials notified Mississippi and FBI authorities searching for the missing trio. The body was taken to Jackson.

The dead person apparently had been wearing blue jeans and tennis shoes. A leather belt on the trousers had a metal buckle with the initial "M."

The missing workers are Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both white with the words "A&M College" of New York City, and James Ray, 34, a Negro. Alcorn A&M College for Negroes is located at Lorman in rural Mississippi.

The pockets also yielded a gold watch, a key chain with two keys, and a piece of paper with the words "A&M College."

Resolution May Result in Outagamie County Farm Sale

Supervisors to Debate Reversal of Plamann Park Roadway Action

Money Taken From Church Vigil Stand

A county board resolution its usefulness and had grown which may call for the eventual sale of the Outagamie County farm on the county hospital grounds, will be debated by supervisors at Tuesday's regular board meeting.

The resolution was drafted last week by the county's institutions committee after a meeting with hospital trustees.

Also on the agenda for supervisors will be the reversal of board action two months ago which allowed a portion of Plamann Park to be turned over to Supv. Arthur Lecker for construction of a roadway to the park. The action comes on the heels of protest action by Town of Grand Chute residents who have opposed the road construction. Work on the project which began briefly last month has been held up pending the board's investigation of the matter.

Short Discussion

Discussion pertaining to eventual sale of the Outagamie County farm is not expected to be long, according to county officials. Rumors that the county would abandon the farm operation have been paramount for months.

In April, Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer, had indicated the 400-acre farm would be sold, but that the decision would be postponed for at least a year.

In April, Fulcer indicated that the primary problem in leaving the farming business would be the plan for selling the acreage and stock on the farm.

Operated With Hospital

The farm is operated in conjunction with the county hospital. It is believed the hospital will need about 50 acres for operation and that the rest of the property will be sold.

Fulcer indicated in April that the farming operation "outlived its usefulness."

3 Arizona Accidents Kill 17

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—At least 17 persons died Sunday in three Arizona traffic accidents caused by sand and rain storms. This was the official count by the Arizona Highway Patrol.

Eight persons burned to death and 17 were injured, five critically, when at least 14 cars and trucks piled up during a sand storm on Interstate 10 about 35 miles northwest of Tucson.

Seven died in a collision near Williams in northern Arizona when a car slid broadside on U.S. 66 into the path of another vehicle.

Two persons died when a car ran off State Route 84 north of Mesa and overturned.

The highway patrol said the flaming pickup near Tucson was touched off when a car carrying five passengers slowed suddenly during a dust storm. A large truck carrying grain smashed into the car.

Fire erupted and the car's occupants burned to death. Other vehicles, bunched together in the roaring sandstorm, smashed into the wreckage in a chain reaction.

Jim Weaver, a service station operator at nearby Picacho Pass, described the heat as overwhelming and said, "There were no pieces larger than three-foot square left of the first car."

Three trucks and several cars burned for at least five hours after the accident, despite rain and the efforts of firemen from Tucson and Casa Grande.

The accident on U.S. 66 claimed five members of a Denton, Tex., family. They were Troy W. Sparks, 41, his wife Faye, and their daughters, Sonja, 14, Lyann, 12 and Debbie, 6.

Occupants in the other car who were killed were Alford White, 26, Lupton, Ariz., and Billy Mustache, 25, Los Angeles.

The third accident occurred late Sunday night on State Route 87 when a sports car ran off the pavement. Killed were Bill Gastelum, 24, Phoenix and Ricardo L. Montes, 24, address unknown.

Most savings banks try to find the owners of unclaimed deposits after a fixed period of time, though they're not required by law to locate these "sleepers". The bank's only responsibility is to report them to the state once a year, list them in two newspapers, and then six months later turn the money over to the State Comptroller.

In New York state, for example, one savings bank is now trying to locate over 200 depositors who have not had a transaction or entry of dividend in their pass books for the past ten years. These accounts become unclaimed under the state's Abandoned Property Law, and in due course are turned over to the custody of the state. So far, New York state has collected over a $100 million dollars and refunded $9.4 million.

It keeps $750,000 in an Abandoned Property Fund to pay off claims of any "sleepers" who suddenly reappear. Sometimes people just plain forget about a small savings account if they move away, or suffer a long period of illness. These tardy depositors then must pay a fee to get their money back—$1 fee for an amount from $50 to $100, and one per cent of the amount for anything over $100.

You can avoid all these complications by stating in writing the person you want to have the money in your individual savings account if anything happens to you. And keep your pass book handy where you can't lose it. The Custodian Account set up under the Uniform Gift for Minors Act is another popular type of savings account these days. If you want to open an account for Junior, say, then this is what you really have in mind. Under this plan the depositor is custodian of the money—but the money actually belongs to Junior. It is not necessary for you, as the depositor, to pay income tax on the interest earned by the account. Until Junior's own income is $600 a year or more, the account remains non-taxable.

Both savings banks and commercial banks have various other types of savings accounts. Regardless of how much or how little money you have to play with, find out how to make the most of it.

Cities and the Great White Father

President Johnson last week signed into law the measure providing some $375 millions for aid to cities of the United States to improve their mass transit systems. He called it one of the most significant pieces of legislation enacted by Congress in recent years and a great step forward.

It was significant all right, but we disagree completely with the direction of the step.

On this page today former Governor Walter Kohler, as guest columnist for John Wyngaard, discusses some basic differences in principle between the Republican and Democratic Parties. In essence he is discussing basic philosophical differences between what is commonly known as the conservative and liberal viewpoints.

This mass transit bill is an excellent example of those differences.

The Democratic Administration and the Democrat majority in Congress takes the position that mass transit is a grave problem in the large cities of the country today and that the federal government must step in to help solve the problem.

Republicans generally take the position that this problem must and should be solved by the cities themselves. Why, asks Congressman John Byrne, should taxpayers in the Fox Cities have to pay money to the federal government to help Chicago solve a municipal problem?

The whole concept of our federal system of national government is involved. Originally the United States of America was a merger of sovereign states through which a federal government was given authority by the states to operate in certain governmental areas better handled on a national scale, national defense as an example.

In the early days of the union the balance of power between federal and state governments was heavily in the latter's favor. We have seen this balance shift over the years until today there are grave questions about the reasons for being of state units. A proposal to consolidate state governments for more efficiency would not surprise too many people.

We have pointed out in many cases that it is the failure of state governments to solve their own problems which has fostered this trend. Certainly this was the situation with the civil rights law. And one of the major current problems state governments have ignored has to do with urbanized metropolitan areas.

The major cities of the country, finding a deaf ear at the state capitol when they went there with their problems, turned instead for aid to the federal government. In many cases all that was needed was permissive state legislation for cities to solve their own problems.

In the mass transit law we have a concrete illustration of the result. State governments will be by-passed completely in this new relationship between Washington and Chicago.

We don't like it, but at the moment we don't know what we can do about it.

This is certainly an issue the Republican Party can and should take to the people this fall.

Last Weapon

Why Another Part-Time City Attorney?

The recommendation of the Appleton City Council's Finance Committee to hire an assistant part-time city attorney can accomplish nothing but perpetuate an undesirable situation within the municipal government.

Appleton does not need another part-time city attorney. The city instead requires the services of a full-time city attorney who will be able to devote all of his time and energy to municipal matters without having to worry about his private practice.

Strange indeed is the action of the committee when for months now an ordinance has been bottled up in the Welfare and Ordinance Committee which would make the position of city attorney a full-time one here in Appleton. This is something long overdue and the question arises as to why city officials are reluctant to take the action which they know is right.

We cannot agree with City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich that Appleton needs another part-time legal counsel. Let's get a full-time attorney first and then think about hiring an assistant if the workload indicates the need for one.

Police and court records will show that the City of Appleton has not been doing too well when it comes to convictions in the courtroom. Drunken driving convictions before a jury are becoming a rarity in Appleton.

There have been grumblings from police officers because charges have been reduced in many instances to increase the chance for a conviction or have the defendant enter a guilty plea. This has been of concern to the higher echelon of the police department because it has an effect on the morale of the men who make the arrests.

Members of the Common Council had better think twice next week when they are called upon to hire a second assistant city attorney. It was just a few weeks ago that the council, acting on the recommendation of the city attorney and another committee, agreed to hire a Madison lawyer to handle one of the city's legal problems.

It would be outright ridiculous if Appleton suddenly found itself with three different attorneys on the city payroll. Why stop at three? Maybe it might be a good idea to hire a fourth attorney to assist the other three and then Appleton could lay claim to having a "legal foursome."

Smoldering Cyprus

There has been little in the headlines about the explosive island of Cyprus but this by no means indicates that the trouble there is over. There is peace of a sort and the chief civilian United Nations official is leaving. Plazo Lasso, an Ecuadorian, hopes "no one will replace me." But the situation is tense and there is as yet no permanent solution in sight.

Lasso explains that the big obstacle is "the fact that both parties hold views that they consider final and that bitterness and hatred has developed, which has introduced elements of fear and lack of security." This is almost an understatement. The Turkish Cypriotes in particular live in fear because they are outnumbered about four to one. Both sides have been stockpiling arms in violation of all agreements and it is suspected that the Greek Cypriotes have artillery.

However, a "free zone" has been set up in the walled city area of Nicosia and it is patrolled by United Nations troops.

Archbishop Makarios in an almost unprecedented peaceful move unilaterally withdrew Greek forces 100 yards back from the truce line and the Turkish Cypriotes followed suit after the U.N. command received approval of the plan from the New York headquarters. Both sides have agreed that the U.N. forces have the exclusive right to patrol, search, disarm, arrest and detain anyone in the "free zone."

Meanwhile the real negotiations to try to end the dispute are going on in Geneva. Sabari, Tuomioja, a U.N. negotiator and a native of Finland, is conducting the talks which is seeking a solution between Greece and Turkey on the NATO level. It is possible that if peace can be maintained long enough on the island, the fears and suspicions may die down somewhat and permit discussion of proposed agreements in a healthier atmosphere.

But whatever is being said in Geneva, on Cyprus there is an atmosphere of waiting for the next terrible explosion.

Looking Backward

McClellan Has Short Memory

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Monitor for July 21, 1864.

It will be recollected that Lt. Col. Bowman invited Gen. McClellan to deliver the oration at West Point on the occasion of dedicating the monument erected to the memory of the officers of the regular army who have fallen during the war.

The New York Tribune, after showing up the meanness of thus prostituting the occasion for the benefit of the basswood general, very pertinently calls up another instance in that general's shortness of memory, so glaringly exhibited in his voluminous, pettifogging report, by leaving out everything prejudicial to himself.

In regard to the particular meanness of McClellan, in his West Point performance, the Tribune puts to him a few sharp and pointed questions: "Why, for instance," it asks, "should he not have so much as even mentioned the name of Gen. George K. Strong, the only officer of distinction, we believe, who was not named? "Gen. Strong was once on McClellan's own staff — could he have been forgotten? He asked to be relieved in order to join Gen. Butler. Does that explain why McClellan remembered to forget him? Or was it because he felt mortally wounded at Fort Wagner, his fame indissolubly connected with that of the colored troops?"

Boys in American Legion Ball Being Discriminated Against

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The Recreation Commission of the City of Appleton has just recently stated in a letter and I quote: "The Legion should develop their own property for practicing for the Legion baseball teams." The letter stated further that Hoover Field would no longer be made available to these boys of the city who play with this program and no other substitute was offered other than the statement "build your own field."

We have had several calls and many inquiries and I would like to set the record straight here and now as to how this came about, and why the suggestion of building "our own field" is not practical.

Upon investigation and discussion with people in the immediate area and the alderman concerned it was the impression of the people who moved there that Hoover Park was not going to contain hardball diamonds. As it turned out, however, a softball diamond and two hardball diamonds were placed there. Well, you can't stop the flight of a foul ball from any bat so balls were hitting houses with aluminum siding, breaking windows and falling among children of the area.

Residents in the area became irritated and began to take their anger out on the groups playing ball there by taking and keeping the balls hit in their yards. There were heated exchanges etc. This was the point where the alderman then proceeded to work for a solution to the problem, one that you can't help but sympathize with as a home owner. But in the process of solving this problem a new one was created, for as the commission acknowledged this problem, and agreed to remove one diamond, they offered no substitute to the boys who were using this particular facility.

Boys are boys and I don't care if they are ten or seventeen years of age. If they play for the Recreation Dept., Little League, Babe Ruth or American Legion, if they play all their games in Appleton or not. They are still boys who live, work, go to school and church in this city and their parents are taxpayers of this city. When forty of these boys can be picked out and discriminated against as they have been, then it's high time we took more interest in what is going on around us and become more concerned in what our children are doing, where they are going, and what we are going to do to help them. The statement was made on Appleton, entertained his eight cousins at a birthday swimming party and winner roast. His guests included Barbara, Patricia, Dennis and Bonnie Ashauer, Janice and Charles Kohl, Nancy Philippi and Ruth Schueler.

Junior committee members of Riverview Country Club chosen to handle decorations for the cabaret style party for high school and college age members included: Sue Manner, Janet Sharp, Katie Curtin, Bruce Benson, Peter Derber and John McGowan.

July 6 to a radio reporter by the Recreation Director: "Well, the American Legion plays their games out of the city of Appleton." The boys play nine games away and nine at home from each team, and let me say this, the City of Appleton has no finer ambassadors of good will as they do in these or any other boys who represent the city of Appleton. Their conduct has been complimented in every town they played in and they have kept sportsmanship and good conduct uppermost in their appearance in any city.

We are not talking American Legion here, we are talking about forty boys from the city who will not have a place to practice if the Commission does not reverse its decision. The thing that really puts the icing on the cake are the facts listed below:

1. The Recreation Commission helps the Little League pay for its umpires' expenses, provides baseball diamonds for these boys to play on and to practice on.
2. The Recreation Department helps the Babe Ruth pay for their umpires, and also provides a ball diamond (brand new) for their practices and playing of games.
3. Teams in both of these organizations will on occasion play teams from other cities and go out of town to play the games.
4. The American Legion, Little League and Babe Ruth are all three "non-profit" organizations, controlled by people within the organization, with separate franchises, and incorporated and are not under the direction of the City Recreation Department.
4. Little League has 180 boys, Babe Ruth 90 boys, and where do these boys go? That's right, American Legion baseball. Forty can make it now with two teams now established.

I ask only one question in view of the above facts: how does anyone justify the Commission going this far with two baseball organizations and then discriminating against a third when the same boys are eventually involved?

Now for the topping, the $4 dollar question and what the Commission has put up as their point: "Why doesn't the Legion build its own baseball park?" We will not because:

1. It would cost thousands of dollars to get the necessary amount of fill dirt for getting the land level as required.
2. The cost of building such a field, with backstop, maintenance, etc., would be fantastic.
3. To have adequate facilities we would have to put the diamond smack in the middle of the property, for unlike the many rumors that circulate, we do not have fifteen, thirteen or ten acres of land, we have less than eight, with a building on it, parking lot and power lines. There could be no diamond put on the south side of the lot that is left for local balls would then fall upon the West College Ave. extension. The same applies for the north side of the lot, private property being involved there.
4. Again, unlike the rumors that go around, legally the City of Appleton can't help us build a diamond, for the club grounds are out of the city of Appleton.

We now spend three thousand dollars to support these teams with help from business and solicitations. Why should we build a baseball diamond out of the City of Appleton for the City of Appleton? I ask this; why doesn't the City of Appleton have adequate hardball facilities for the youth of the city? Why are we still aiming for more softball diamonds and lighted softball diamonds for industrial and church leagues when we can't give all the youth of the city a place to even practice?

It is a fact that Little League, Babe Ruth and American Legion Baseball want to expand but they can't unless other facilities are provided. Little League has about 600 turn out for their program and they can only take 100 in twelve teams. Babe Ruth has about 150 turn out and can take only 90 and the American Legion has about 60 to 70 turn out and can take only 40. Why? Because we don't have enough facilities.

We talk about juvenile delinquency but we do very little at times to stem it, all talk and no action by so many provides so little for the needy. Sure, someone will say, just turn it all over to the city recreation department, that's what it is for. Okay, let's say we do just that, all three organizations say, here it is, you provide the same type of program to these boys that we have been doing. First, more manpower is needed, supervision, more money, bigger budgets and who is going to pay for it? YOU, as Mr. Taxpayer and here you have three non-profit organizations that are willing to sweat it out themselves and the only ones who pay for their program are the ones who want to.

The issue here is not American Legion Baseball, or any other organization, it is "What will be provided for the youth of the city, in what age group, and in what program?" We are all part of this city and what is good for one is good for all. The only thing we are asking is that we share and use a diamond like anyone else for our youth of the city for practice facilities which by the way, is not very much. The only time we need practice facilities extensively is in May and June, from then on we only need it for about two times a week. If we are going to deprive these boys now we might as well give up the ship.

One person remarked to me quite hastily: "Give it up, drop the program." Well, after 30 years you don't do that. These boys who have been through our program are now members of this community, leaders, others much younger are in our colleges and universities throughout the state, and the younger still, in our public and parochial high schools. Do we quit on them now? We have dedicated ourselves to the service to youth of our community, no one in this city is rich enough to buy what a boy learns in citizen-

There Are Differences In Principle Between Two Political Parties

A series of guest columns on Wisconsin public affairs written by prominent public leaders and officials will substitute for the usual "Wisconsin Report" columns of John Wyngaard, regular state capital correspondent who will be away from his desk for the next two weeks.

The series begins with an essay on the distinctions between the political parties written by Walter J. Kohler, former governor of Wisconsin for three terms.

BY WALTER J. KOHLER
MADISON — Among the guests at a small dinner I recently attended was the mayor of a provincial Dutch city. Like so many foreign visitors, he was much interested in and somewhat mystified by the workings of our American political system. He expressed an inability to distinguish in principles between the two political parties in the United States.

I very well knew that this is a loaded question—complex, certainly, and confusing to a foreigner since both parties in their membership paradoxically encompass political, social and economic views of every conceivable hue. However, I am not one who believes—as I have heard some Wisconsin Republicans say—that there exists no difference between Republicans and Democrats. There are differences, both fundamental and substantial.

I tried to express these differences to my Dutch friend in what some will doubtlessly say are oversimplified terms.

DIVISION OF POWERS

To begin with, I explained, Republicans have a deep distrust of a strong federal government. They believe in a fractionization and dispersal of the powers of government—both as to the separation of the legislative, judicial and executive powers but equally important the division of authority and responsibility as between the federal government and the many smaller jurisdictions comprising the states and their multitudinous subdivisions.

Basically, I went on, this amounts to a conviction that people locally best know their local problems and therefore individually and collectively in small groups are best able to solve them.

The Democratic Party apparently has no such mistrust of a central power and no such faith in the ability of people locally to solve their local problems.

A second great difference, I pointed out, is that the Republican Party believes in a sound currency. Republicans have a genuine and justifiable fear of inflation and they deeply believe that unbalanced federal deficits are a substantial if not decisive cause of inflation which most cruelly affects those on Social Security and pensions, and levies a severe if not confiscatory tax on savings and insurance policies. The Democratic Party apparently has no such fears.

The Republican Party, furthermore, while recognizing the great political appeal of broad welfare programs nevertheless believes that direct or indirect subsidies to various groups are not only extravagantly expensive, recklessly wasteful and predominantly bureaucracy sustaining, but generally ineffectual and demoralizing as well. The Democratic Party seems only to be concerned about the great political appeal of such welfare programs.

FOREIGN POLICY

Another great difference between the two parties, I went on, is in the field of foreign affairs where the Republicans believe in standing resolutely against either overt or eroding encroachments on the part of unfriendly powers. They believe that a nation is respected and admired for its willingness to stand up and speak out forthrightly for its rights, and they do not, generally speaking, believe a nation can buy either admiration, respect, or affection by excessive gifts and grants.

And finally, Republicans have great faith in the industry, the ability, the resourcefulness and the integrity of the individual.

They believe, if left to himself, he will work hard, take care of his family, educate his children, pay his bills, participate in civic affairs, contribute to his church and charities and be friendly to his neighbors if—and only if—he is not burdened with governmental regulations and crushed by taxation.

When I had finished talking, the Dutch mayor nodded his head to me slowly and said: "We have a political party in Holland such as your Republican Party." "Yes," I said, "And what is it called?" "The Liberal Party," he said.

Walter J. Kohler, governor of Wisconsin from 1951 to 1957, is a lifelong student of public affairs and he is president of the Voltrath Company of Sheboygan.

Unpleasant Facts Are Often Kept at Bay

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In a new book titled "International Conflict and Behavioral Science," which is a collection of papers on the alternatives to using force in world disputes, I was much taken with one essay called "The Truth is Not Enough."

Presented by Dr. Lester Grinspoon, a psychiatrist on the faculty of the Harvard Medical School, this paper deals with the ways in which people cope with facts that are unacceptable to them. Such mechanisms include denying the facts, isolating them as an abstraction, displacing them onto some other subject, and dogmatizing them away by an airtight system of beliefs.

By the phrase, "the truth is not enough," Dr. Grinspoon means that people have found ways to keep unpleasant facts at bay. When these defenses are broken down—as, for instance, when they fully comprehend what a thermonuclear war would mean—this new knowledge may do more harm than good.

"People living in the fellowship and we will not quit on these boys who represent our future generation and leaders of this community. If we do anything, we will continue to build, until we have four teams if possible, and through this program as well as the others, build better boys for a better community, tomorrow."

monuclear age," he writes, "cannot really accept the facts of this moment in history without a concomitant means or hope of altering them for the next."

Our defenses against facts serve to protect us from anxiety, and not all such defenses are bad or pathological. One of the most important, for example, in denial—which enables us to ignore or dismiss the perception of painful events. Without this ability, Dr. Grinspoon points out, "We would be much less likely to travel in airplanes, undergo surgery, eat meat or to carry out countless other acts of daily life."

Truth, on the whole, will not be accepted by us except when plausible alternatives are offered. People don't listen to words of doom about the next war because they don't see what can be done about it; a world government seems wildly remote, disarmament seems highly unlikely, and so we cling to the fantasy of "more powerful weapons" to protect us from disaster, even though a deeper part of us knows better.

People are not "apathetic" about the threat of world destruction; they are simply immobilized by the lack of alternatives. "Telling the truth" about the present state of affairs is ineffectual, because mere warnings may create more resistance to the facts, if no other way out seems possible.

There is a paradox involved here: only if enough people can be brought to accept the "unacceptable facts" can they be modified; once we accept the truth of this moment in history, we can act to change it. But nobody really knows how we can get from here to there.

Declaration of Principles

Goldwater Touch Seen In Long GOP Platform

BY JAMES MARLOW
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There's a lot of Sen. Barry Goldwater in the campaign promises nailed together by the Republican platform committee. He can be highly satisfied with it.

Although he wanted a short platform, and this is long, he wanted one which was mostly a declaration of principles. In a large sense, that's what it is. And, just because it is, it's all patched over with vagueness.

Anyone reading it would have to stick a big question mark in many of the paragraphs, asking himself: "What does this mean? How will this be done?"

There will be a fight over some parts of it Tuesday on the convention floor by Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, Goldwater's leading opponent for the Republican presidential nomination. But as of now Scranton's fading fast and probably won't get far.

Foreign Policy

The foreign policy plank, for instance, starts off with a ringing call for a "dynamic strategy." That's the typical political platform rubber wording.

The Republicans created a big question mark when they went on to say they "reaffirm their long-standing commitment to a course leading to the eventual liberation" of the Red-run countries of Eastern Europe, Asia and Latin America.

John Foster Dulles, later President Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of state, talked liberation of the satellites back in 1952. But when he and Eisenhower ran foreign policy later nothing ever came of it. Even when the East Germans and Hungarians revolted nothing was done to help them.

Dulles never quite lived down the promise.

The platform also pledges to cut off trade with the Communist countries unless it served to "diminish their power."

The platform promises a "drastic reorganization of foreign aid." This suits Goldwater fine. He has repeatedly voted in the Senate against foreign aid bills.

Graduated Tax

In speeches around the country he had called for elimination of the graduated income tax, preferring, as he said, to have a system by which poor and rich would pay the same percentage of tax, which would mean a great saving, particularly for the rich.

The senator never repudiated that proposal although he hasn't been mentioning it lately. The platform doesn't go so far as Goldwater but it calls for simplification as well as lowering of the "rates to strengthen individual and business incentives."

Exactly what the platform committee had in mind isn't clear.

Another plank pledges revision of the Social Security laws to "allow higher earnings, without loss of benefits, by our elderly people." Again: no explanation of how this could be done.

Social Security

Goldwater in the past had talked of putting Social Security on a voluntary basis. This got him criticism and he stopped saying it. Then he said he wanted to strengthen Social Security and make the pension dollar sound. But he never publicly repudiated the idea of a voluntary system.

Goldwater had voted against an increase in the minimum wage law. One platform pledge would provide "incentive for employers to hire teen-agers, including broadening of temporary exemptions under the minimum wage law."

The platform also would drastically curtail the power of the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Trade Commission and the Food and Drug Administration, all of which coincides with Goldwater's calls for less government authority.

The platform also promises two constitutional amendments. But the purpose of one isn't clear. This suggests an amendment to let people exercise their Johnson, including a claim that the President would get 66 per cent of the vote in Wisconsin. Renk ignored this and noted Wisconsin's tradition against straight ticket voting.

"By November, things will be a lot different there. There may be some of that on the surface, but we have always had separate campaigns in Wisconsin," Renk said.

Leaders of the delegation continue to receive mail and telegrams to try to influence their choice. Peterson said Sunday he is getting 30 to 40 letters a day, 70 per cent of it for Goldwater.

Successful Experiment

Byrnes told the delegates meeting that the Wisconsin GOP stood "at a climax of a political experiment," the decision to run a favorite son slate to avoid the contenders. He agreed state Republicans have been accused of every kind of ulterior motive but he said the experiment was a success.

For one thing, Byrnes said, the decision kept Democrats from influencing the choice of a Republican primary. For another, one final candidate, Scranton, was not in the field last spring, he noted.

Reading letters of agreement in religion in public places but would not undo the Supreme Court's ban on compulsory prepared religious readings in public schools.

Equal Proportion

The other slaps at the court which said the membership in both houses of a state legislature must be based on equal proportions of the population. The platform wants an amendment letting one of the two houses choose its membership as it pleases.

Probably the most controversial part of the platform—the one most likely to provoke a convention floor fight—is on civil rights. But oddly enough this part seems to contain one of the clearest pledges, although it doesn't suit Scranton.

It promises "full implementation and faithful execution of the Civil Rights Act of 1960—which Goldwater voted against—and all other civil rights statutes."

It's a long platform. Only a few parts have been touched on here.

"Sometimes I think the only fun Dad has is sitting around waiting for the Beatie crase to die out!"

Challenge to Debate Refused By Goldwater

at as ridiculous and returned the letter unanswered.

Scranton said the issue is whether the convention will choose "the candidate over" whom he is favored by the Republican voters, or will it choose "you?" The Pennsylvania governor has cited polls which show him widely preferred over Goldwater as the nominee.

Scranton said "Goldwaterism has come to stand for a whole crazy-quilt of absurd and dangerous positions that would be soundly repudiated by the American people in November."

Among these, he said, was "refusal to stand for law and order in maintaining racial peace" and being afraid to forthrightly condemn right wing extremists.

Taunts Goldwater

Taunting Goldwater, he said the Arizona senator "should not fear a convention you claim to control, and I would hope we have not reached the point where you fear to face the nation."

Scranton has charged that Goldwater's strategists were treating delegates as "a flock of chickens whose necks will be wrung at will."

Goldwater canceled an appearance at a fund-raising party gala to frame his reply, sending Mrs. Goldwater to mingle with the guests without him. The wife of the senator created a stir, but Scranton and his wife were greeted with little fanfare.

Critical of Scranton

Indignantly, Denison Kitchel, Goldwater's campaign manager replied in a statement that Scranton's remarks "tragically reflect upon the character of the Republican party and every delegate to this convention."

"Perhaps on consideration," he added, "the governor will recognize the intemperate nature of his remarks."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower scheduled an afternoon news conference. But Scranton apparently could hope for no reinforcements from that quarter. Arriving by train, the general said that neither publicly or privately would he express a preference for the presidential candidate.

Like TV Commentator

Appearing as a television commentator for ABC, Eisenhower said he may have made a mistake in announcing 14 months ago that he was not going to express such a preference.

Goldwater suggested that in obvious reference to previous remarks indicating he thinks Goldwater will head the ticket, Eisenhower added: "And if we have made a mistake or any of us think we have made a mistake in the particular nominee we have set up to lead us during the next campaign, we have got to live with that mistake and we will be true to our party."

The delegate news for Scranton also was relatively bad. His one bright spot came on a poll of the New Jersey delegation which decided to cast 22 votes for the Pennsylvania governor and 12 for Goldwater, with 6 withholding a decision.

Wisconsin Vote Awaited

Two veteran members predicted that the 36-vote Wisconsin delegation, still flying the banner of Rep. John W. Byrnes as favorite son, will break apart and give Goldwater 18 votes on the first ballot.

Sen. Gordon L. Allott forecast "no" and I mean it." Dirksen that the Arizona senator will get said.

San Francisco Is Choked With Corn

All Kinds of People in City Which Survived Quakes, Fires

Having survived the gold rush, the earthquake and the Japanese beetle, this city of grace and taste is now choked with corn as high as an elephant's eye, as snarled ruts, promoters, press agents, world-savers and pamphleteers, including one pushing a positive program for responsible extremism.

While the Republican convention itself got started today on an incoming tide of oratory and an ebb of suspense, the parade of hoopla, spontaneous and synthetic, continues in what has been called the lull before the ball.

There are all kinds of people here, even delegates, but the ones who seem to be having the most fun are the wandering bands of kids. Like streeturchins in an Italian movie, they go from one free load to another, from one hospitality suite to the next, collecting loot, punch, soda, campaign buttons and tracts with fine impartiality.

For all the noise, bands, exhibitionists, for all the pickets for "Ringo (of the Beatles) for President" or those crying "Earl Warren must repent," for all the big button wearers, including those whose pins cry simply for "Help" or "Mother" or "Stop Stassen," memorable wit remains hard to come by.

However, one Goldwater delegate was overheard asking another Goldwater delegate: "What do you think of Scranton?" Answer: "Don't know. Never been there."

With all the important people here, unless you're Dwight D. Eisenhower or one of the major candidates, about the only way to attract any real attention is to look conspiratorial in a hotel lobby. The thing to do is lean over to a friend and whisper, "I must get in touch with my people immediately." Do that and you'll be drowned under reporters, blinded by camera lights and choked to death with television.

Another way is to undress in public. One healthy young blonde drew off the mob in front of the Mark Hopkins Hotel by appearing in a blouse cut down to her waist. On one side of her striking superstructure she wore a Goldwater button; on the other, a Scranton button but nothing for the middle of the roaders.

Delegates are scattered over 42 hotels and one of the unhappy is a Virginia delegate who is housed on North Beach in what he calls a "swarm of ethnic groups." He is surrounded by pizza parlors, first-run Chinese movies, strip joints, bearded beatniks and sailors on the prowl with a gleam older than politics.

This easily must be the most over-communicated convention in history. Also the one with greatest mutual suspicion. Everybody seems to be thoroughly wired to talk to everybody else by special complex phone systems, by radio, walkie-talkie and creeper-people. The rival camps have been thorough about de-bugging their facilities to prevent the enemy from listening.

During an inspection tour of the northern frontier Saturday, he warned that the Saigon government would "soon take new, special steps to halt this Communist invasion."

Khanh did not elaborate. He has never openly discussed direct military action against North Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi said a North Vietnamese military court is trying 17 Chinese Nationalist commandos, the survivors of a group of 26 agents landed in North Viet Nam July 23.

In Taipei, the Chinese Nationalist Chung Shing news agency claimed anti-Communist guerrillas in the South China province of Kwangtung sank a 120-ton Red Chinese naval transport that was believed to be carrying military supplies to North Viet Nam. The report said the transport, one of three, was blown up on July 3 in Chanchew Bay, in southwest Kwangtung.

Byrnes also hinted broadly that the Wisconsin Republican experience in successfully managing an uncommitted convention caused last night, Rep. John Byrnes, the delegation's favorite son candidate and chairman, confirmed that his delegates will be released, and indicated that they will be free to follow their individual choice of Goldwater or Scranton, although he is believed to lean toward Goldwater.

His declaration that his delegates will vote their individual tastes was probably a hint of his knowledge that the final vote may not be unanimous.

Byrnes also hinted broadly that the Wisconsin Republican experience in successfully managing an uncommitted convention called for letting Communists know the United States recognizes no "privileged sanctuaries"—a term used, especially in connection with the struggle in Southeast Asia, for Communist territory employed as a base for subversive attacks within Western-allied nations.

The platform also recommended:—Amending the Constitution to modify a recent Supreme Court decision and allow states to allot seats in one chamber of their legislatures on a basis other than population.

—Cut spending at least $5 billion.

—Keep government out of labor disputes as much as possible and reorganize the national labor relations board.

In an "indictment" section, the platform accused the Democratic administration of "weakness before communism," "impeding investigations" which might implicate public officials in the highest offices, "having exploited interracial tensions by extravagant campaign promises" and "practicing federal extremism at the expense of individual freedom and creative enterprise."

The party document promised to "end second-best" weapons policies and "false economies which place price ahead of performance on which American lives may depend."

Mrs. Handschke was a passenger in a car driven by her husband on Hillview Road. The couple was on its way to church about 10:15 a.m. when the accident occurred.

The Handschke car was involved in a collision at the intersection of Manley Road with a car driven by Sandra L. Moeller, 22, route 2, Hortonville. Miss Moeller was taken to New London Community Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps ruled the death was caused by internal chest injuries. The Borchardt and Moder Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Three in One Crash

In the other fatal accidents, three of the victims died in one crash, and three other collisions claimed two lives each.

Eight of the dead were 20 or younger and nine were from other states—six of them from Illinois.

Jerome D. Frohne, 18 of Mukwonago; his brother, Jerry, 13, and their cousin, Frederick Laatsch, 15, of Bossier City, La., were killed Sunday afternoon in a one-car crash near Mukwonago. Their car left Waukesha County Trunk NN, skidded into a ditch, crossed the highway and smashed against a tree. Frederick's brother, Walter, 16, was injured seriously.

Edward Kalinowski, 17, of Washburn and Annette Carpenter, 16, of Ashland died Sunday in the collision of their motorcycle and a car at a curve in a Bayfield County road about three miles southeast of Iron River.

Elmer Ringus, 45, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Agnes Larson, 69, both of Chicago were killed and six persons were injured in a three-car collision Saturday night in Door County. The crash occurred on County Trunk E about 17 miles north of Sturgeon Bay.

Mrs. Edith Y. Cosgriff, 65, of Forest City, Iowa, and Lila Alverson, 12, of West Allis, were killed Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Highways 64 and 63 about 12 miles east of New Richmond in St. Croix County.

Woodrow Maxwell, 49, of Chicago, died Sunday in a two-car, head-on crash at a Kenosha County intersection near Trevor.

Car Hits Tree

Mrs. Roger Gordon, 27, of Chicago, was killed Sunday when a car driven by her husband left a Sheboygan street, crashed through a guard rail, overturned and slid into a tree.

Vernon Martindale, 64, of Rockford, Ill., was killed in the head-on crash of two cars on Highway 14 about a mile and a half from Spring Green in Iowa County Sunday.

Linda Drake, 18, of Kingston, Ill., was killed and two companions injured Sunday in a two-car crash on Walworth County Trunk N near Delavan.

One Killed, Five Hurt

Thomas Gheff, 20, of La Crosse died early Sunday when his car hit a culvert, struck an embankment and overturned after leaving Highway 33 just east of La Crosse. Five other young persons were injured.

Robert Lauth, 26, of Portage, was killed Saturday night when his car shot through the end of forestalling party factionalism.

But Byrnes cited another as a deadly road, crossed Highway 51 and 16 and landed in a ditch. Authorities said the car skidded 253 feet before rolling end over end.

Mrs. Lettie Belle Goddard, 52, of rural Crivitz, died Sunday afternoon in a two-car crash on Marinette County Trunk P near Pound. Seven persons were injured.

Martin Pioskowski, 42, of rural Fox Lake died Saturday afternoon when he was crushed under his overturned tractor after it left Columbia County Trunk A five miles southwest of Cambridge.

Raymond Strietzel, 44, of Denver, Col., was killed in a two-car sideswipe crash at the intersection of two town roads one and one-half miles north of Bloomer in Chippewa County Sunday afternoon. He was riding in an automobile driven by a Bloomer area resident.

Democrats Indicted by GOP for Exploiting Interracial Tension

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Here are highlights from the platform submitted by the platform committee of the Republican National Convention:

Old Wisconsin Debt to Illinois Finally Repaid

Replace Horse Stolen From Lincoln
During Black Hawk War 132 Years Ago

WHITEWATER (AP) — Wisconsin at the time, Olson repaid an old debt to its neighbor to the south Saturday when it replaced the horse stolen 132 years ago from Abe Lincoln of Illinois.

A fine Arabian stall named Aalfour was turned over to the state of Illinois at a program of speechmaking near the spot where Lincoln's horse was captured by a thief who was never caught.

U. S. Gov. Jack Olson of Wisconsin presented the horse to Ver Lynn Sprague of Sycamore, Ill., representing Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

The horse was furnished by the Southeastern Wisconsin Vacationland Association, an eight-county group sponsoring the two-day program.

History Records
History records that Lincoln, following his discharge from the Army at the conclusion of the Black Hawk War in 1812, had camped just outside Whitewater. During the night, his horse was stolen. Lincoln had to finish his journey to his home at Salem, Ill., on foot, over 100 miles.

Olson said the presentation gesture was intended to "right an old wrong" and urged residents of Wisconsin and Illinois to consider the case closed. But he questioned whether Wisconsin rightfully bore the full blame for the indignity to the man who became the nation's martyred president.

Therefore, he reasoned, the thief was a Michigander and "this is really a horse of a different state."

Lincoln Authority
Sprague, a Lincoln authority, assured Olson that Wisconsin's "gift horse" was appreciated. He recalled the history of the theft and of his efforts to obtain a John Doe pardon for the unknown thief. Sprague is president of the International Order of Patriots for Peace.

Sprague said that even though President Eisenhower had been unresponsive, the organization still sought a posthumous pardon for the horse thief.

But Wisconsin's Sen. William Proxmire, who was assigned to speak on the topic "Can a Texas Pardon a Horse Thief?" had some bad news for the Sprague group.

President Johnson had written him, Proxmire said, to say that he would not pardon a horse thief and could not condone an unlawful act.

Be that as it may, said Proxmire, Wisconsin's pride has been restored by the payment of its old debt to Illinois.

Federal Agents Investigating Church Burning

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Federal agents Saturday investigated the burning of a Negro church near Greenwood which civil rights workers hinted it destroyed with racial motives.

The concrete-block and wooden Pleasant Plan Missionary Baptist church was leveled by fire before dawn Saturday.

The Council of Federated Organizations — COFO — implied that white persons might have burned the structure, but Greenwood fire officials reported no reason to believe arson was involved.

The church pastor, J. R. Rouse, said the fire "could just have happened." He said the church had contained gas heaters.

FBI agents and Deputy State Fire Marshal Louis Hoskins moved into the investigation. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover left Mississippi on Saturday after beefing up the FBI setup for the state.

In connection with the latest fire, COFO said a white man had unsuccessfully sought to buy the church, which is in the path of an expanding white residential area.

The civil rights group also

Marinette Man Rescued From Green Bay

Clung to Boat For 16 Hours; Companions Dead

OCONTO (AP) — Richard Kloida, 33, of Marinette was rescued Sunday from the rough waters of Green Bay after clinging to an overturned boat for 16 hours, but two companions drowned. One body was recovered.

And in a separate, similar accident, Albert Martin, 66, of Peshtigo was rescued Saturday after floating in a lifejacket for three hours. A fishing companion was missing.

Oconto County authorities planned to renew the searches today.

Wearing Lifejacket
Kloida, who was wearing a lifejacket, was found about a half-mile offshore and about a mile north of here. Missing was Jack Hubert, also of Marinette. The body of Frank Schewe was recovered Sunday.

Kloida, suffering from exhaustion and barely able to speak, was taken to an Oconto hospital. He said their boat overturned about 6 p.m. Saturday and one of the men disappeared almost immediately. The second clung to the craft until 8 a.m. Sunday when he slipped beneath five-foot waves.

A search was started Saturday night when the men failed to return home. Scores of volunteers in small boats joined the Coast Guard in looking for the three, and for Martin's companion, Fred Solter, 66, also of Peshtigo.

Pulled From Water
Kloida was pulled from the water by one of the volunteers, Everett Augustine of Oconto.

Augustine said he was headed back to shore when he saw a light plane circling the bay. Augustine went to the spot and pulled Kloida from the water. The plane carried Sheriff Edward Coopman, who had spotted the overturned boat.

Martin was pulled from the bay about 1:30 p.m. Saturday by another fisherman, Alfred St. Germaine of Oconto. Martin said he and Solter both wore lifejackets. Their boat overturned, Martin said, when he stood up to take a fish from his line. He said he did not know what happened to Solter.

charged that a fire truck had stood idly by while the building was gutted.

However, Asst. Fire Chief L. C. Shepard said the truck was not used because no fire hydrants were available and the supply of water in the truck was saved in case the flames spread to surrounding buildings.

YOUR "INSTINCTS"

CONDUCT!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

False. Far more important in regard to determining conduct is what you take for granted, and this is largely learned. For example, most Americans take the importance of money for granted; peoples of some other cultures do not. We take certain "human rights" for granted; other people do not. Many people take for granted a moral code that others

Do women feel that men discriminate against them at work?
Yes—
No—

Yes. When business and professional women were asked about the attitudes of men towards women's work, the researchers concluded, "Women... obviously believe that there are strong prejudices against women workers as held by men in terms of pay, job assignments, promotions, and work load. Not a single woman endorsed the discriminations against them as attributed to men by them. No surprise in this finding!" Now we wonder whether men generally do discriminate against women on the job!

Brillion Youths Hurt in Crashes

Gary Koffarnus, James Kacmarynski In Hospital

BRILLION — Two Brillion teen-agers were seriously injured in separate one-car accidents over the weekend.

Listed in critical condition at Calumet Memorial Hospital, Chilton, is Gary Koffarnus, 19, 106 S. Main St. Hospital spokesmen listed the condition of James D. Kacmarynski, 17, route 2, as "good."

Koffarnus suffered an apparent skull fracture and other possible broken bones when the car he was driving skidded off a curve on U. S. 10 just east of here shortly after 2 a.m. today.

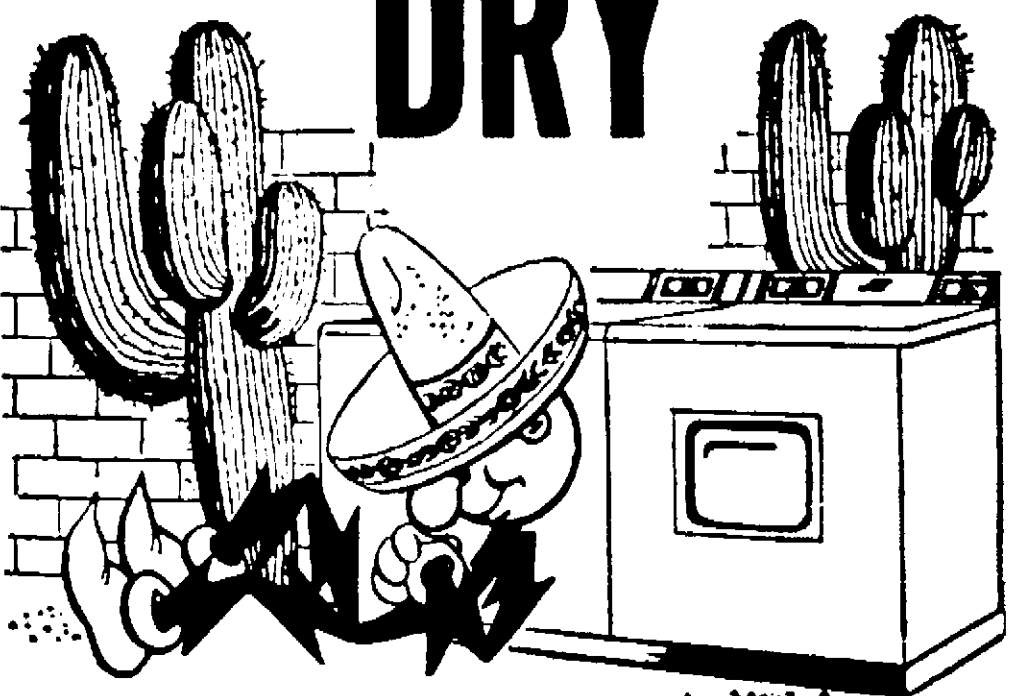

Thrown From Car
He was thrown from the car, according to Brillion police. The vehicle burst into flames and was destroyed before Brillion firemen could bring it under control.

Koffarnus is unconscious and police have not been able to learn details leading up to the accident.

Kacmarynski suffered a multiple fracture when the car he was driving left State 114 east of here about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The vehicle struck two trees and a farm building after skidding out of control. Calumet County police said Kacmarynski was heading east and was passing a car when he apparently lost control of the car.

 As an example, the boy in the illustration is named Bert. The girl is Mary, who is "It." Mary has tagged Bert, but Bert was swift enough to make himself safe by touching the brass lamp "Braas" starts with "B" as does his name.
 As a consequence, Mary must try to tag someone else. She cannot try to tag Bert again until she has tried to tag all the other players. Then she can go after Bert again.

 Another rule is that Bert may not use "braas" again while Mary is "It." He has to find another object in the room that starts with "B" which he can touch to make himself safe.
 Playing it safe, Bert stays close to a box—another "B" object—which he has found in the room. If Mary tries to tag him, he will try to touch the box and

Program on Carl Sandburg At Oshkosh

A program highly acclaimed in adaptations on Broadway and national TV is coming to Oshkosh Thursday for a one-night showing on the Wisconsin State University campus. The program is "The World of Carl Sandburg," presented by the touring Kaleidoscope Players. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. at the university's Little Theater. Under the sponsorship of the university summer concert management, the dramatic program is open to the public free of charge.

"The World of Carl Sandburg" is an adaptation by noted writer Norman Corwin from the writings of poet Carl Sandburg. It originally was toured and presented on Broadway as a stage reading by Bette Davis and a succession of leading actors including Gary Merrill, Barry Sullivan and Lief Ericson in Fifth Year.

Kaleidoscope Players, now entering their fifth year of touring, present the play not as a reading but as a stage presentation. The cast has been increased to four from the original three to include a folksinger. The program is made up of the best from the works of Pulitzer Prize winning Sandburg.
